

U.S. Atom Sub Nears Reality But Grant Warns Of Menace

May Be Ready
In Two Years

WASHINGTON (UP)—The world's first atomic submarine which would revolutionize naval warfare and wipe out Russia's edge in undersea craft, is on the way to being built by the United States.

The designs are finished, the models made, the contract let—and an atomic engine already may have been found workable although no one will say so.

When the submarine is launched—perhaps in two years—the United States will have an undersea boat able to go practically any distance without refueling or coming up for air.

Even more, the submarine will mark a step forward in using atomic energy greater than anything since the A-bomb went off. The government is working to make an atomic-powered airplane and produce electricity with atomic energy. Both will get a boost when the submarine succeeds.

In a one-line announcement last night the navy said the $40,000,000 atom-sub contract has been let to the Electric Boat Co. of Groton, Conn. The company has been working on the plans more than a year. The cost was fixed by a bill passed in Congress.

NO DETAILS

Neither the navy nor the Atomic Energy Commission will give details. A.E.C. officials told a news conference recently they plan to be "vague and vague" on when the prototype engine, or reactor, designed to drive submarines will be useful.

This was especially pointed since Russia is generally acknowledged to have right now the world's largest fleet of undersea craft, including those she captured from the Germans.

One official said it was not exactly right to assume that because the contract with the electric boat firm has been made, the A.E.C. now has proved up an engine for its revolutionary sub. However, outsiders felt that the A.E.C. must be pretty confident.

WORKING ON MODEL

Work on a prototype engine started in 1948. Westinghouse Electric is working on a model at Acro, Ind. General Electric is working on one at Schenectady, N.Y.

The atom-sub will be powered by nuclear energy. It is the only kind of fuel that doesn't "burn." Not only that, it can produce the oxygen the crew needs to live. The atomic engine produces heat which can be turned into steam or electrical energy to propel the submarine. It will run for months without refueling.

Dysentery Cause Of Mennonite Infant Deaths

HAGUE, Sask. (CP)—Acute dysentery, possibly of tropical origin, was responsible for the death of two Mennonite infants in the Hague district during the last week, Rosthern Coroner E. Penner and Dr. David Hamm, of Hague, said today.

Neither child was on the recent ill-fated Mennonite trek to Honduras, but they lived in the same district as families which returned from the trek. It is thought the babies contracted the disease from some of those who returned.

Dr. Hamm said five other Mennonite children of the same district are under his care, and that he knows of more sick children. He said he presumes they have the same disease or enteritis—inflammation of the intestines—which earlier this month killed two other Mennonite babies who were on the Honduras trek.

The Honduras trek was undertaken last May by 62 members of the Bergthal Corporation, a minority group of Mennonites. Travelling by truck, they reached Mexico but were turned back there by Mexican authorities.

VICE-ADMIRAL H. T. GRANT

Think Russia Will Agree To Sign Treaty

TOKYO (AP)—There is a growing belief in Japan that Russia will do the unexpected and sign the Japanese Peace Treaty in San Francisco next month.

Reliable, if unofficial, Japanese circles express the view that the Russians will sign after putting up a strong fight for inclusion of one major provision.

They say the Reds will agree to keeping an American military establishment in Japan—but will demand a definite date for departure. They are opposed to a unilateral treaty between Japan and the United States.

This view was expressed despite last night's threats from the Chinese Reds' Peiping radio that Japan's acceptance of a peace treaty not approved by both Red China and Russia would be considered an act of war.

Red China wasn't invited to the peace treaty conference. Russia accepted after considerable delay.

The feeling around Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's allied headquarters had been that the Soviet delegates en route to San Francisco are carrying brief cases loaded with monkey wrenches.

This unilateral treaty would provide for the stationing of American troops—between two and four divisions of ground troops plus an air force and a navy—in Japan until the country is able to defend herself.

Canadian Court Martial Trials Open At Seoul

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—The defense called the prosecuting officer to the stand today as Pte. Glen Roland Blank of Winnipeg went on trial charged with murder.

Blank, 27, is the first of three privates of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry to be tried by court martial for the grenade death last March 17, of a South Korean army lieutenant.

Blank pleaded innocent and his defending counsel, Lt. Col. John A. Hutchins of Montreal and Regina, promptly launched a "trial within a trial." The surprise move forced a recess until Saturday.

Col. Hutchins called the prosecuting officer to the stand in an effort to determine whether Blank had been properly informed of all legal resources at his disposal at the time when summaries of evidence were being taken.

Col. W. Clement Dick, of Toronto, president of the court martial, ordered adjournment to Saturday to enable four officers of Blank's unit, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, to describe the means employed to inform Blank and his fellow-defendants of their rights.

Blank's co-defendants are Ptes. Donald Michael Gibson, of Ottawa, and Alan Roy Montgomery Davis, of Vancouver, also members of the Patricia's. They will be tried separately.

The full charges against Blank include murder and attempted rape, but he is being tried for murder only at the present hearing.

The specific charges arose from the death of a South Korean army lieutenant, Ee Chon-Sun, at the village of Chungwood near Chipyong, March 17. Two other persons died in the same incident, but the three men are accused only

Red Underwater Fleet Strongest

HALIFAX (CP)—Vice-Admiral Harold T. Grant, chief of the Canadian navy, said today "if the Russians start something tomorrow their submarine fleet has the strength and development of the German undersea fleet at its peak effort."

Here on an inspection tour, he told reporters that the development of the submarine has outstripped defenses against it. This is viewed with "some concern" in naval circles.

Air reconnaissance will play a part in the Canadian effort against the submarine and three helicopters have already arrived in Halifax with their crews to aid in this work. At least one of the craft will be attached to the carrier Magnificent, whose role will be chiefly anti-submarine.

AT INTERVIEW

During the interview Admiral Grant straightened out a couple of misconceptions which he said were generally held. The first concerned recruiting. He said newspaper readers learned that recruiting figures were good.

"But this doesn't mean a hell of a lot," he said. It took two years to train seamen and much longer to train officers. This made a long gap between the recruiting figures and the time when the sailor would be useful to the navy.

This was especially true in the technical branches of the service. The recruiting of technicians was slow and the navy's program to train her own technicians took time.

Another popular misconception concerned the strength of Canada's naval role in Korea. It was generally held that this consisted of three destroyers.

Actually five destroyers were continuously involved in the Pacific war—"three on duty, one looking and one coming."

LOOK WITH ENVY

He had a word for Atlantic coast seamen. They have looked with some envy at the Pacific coast base which has supplied most of the ships for the Korean force.

"East coast ships are going to have a full share of the operational role in Korea," he announced.

Admiral Grant was pleased with the progress of the new naval construction program. He said that by the end of the year the navy would get one of the new anti-submarine escorts, four or five minesweepers, four gate vessels and a northern patrol ship that will be equipped with helicopters.

Excellent Bid For Wheat, Says McIvor

WINNIPEG (CP)—The present crop year has started with an excellent demand for wheat and if adequate transportation is available "very large quantities" can be exported during the fall and throughout the crop year.

George McIvor, Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, said today.

In a speech prepared for delivery over the three Prairie stations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBW, CKB and CBX), Mr. McIvor said "This is a most important consideration in a year of good production and at a time when grain supplies are going to press upon available storage space in Canada."

Mr. McIvor said crop prospects for the west as a whole are excellent, "and providing we have a frost-free August, the yields of all grains will be well above average. Many areas have bumper crops in prospect."

Limited storage space at country delivery points had resulted in the imposition of initial delivery quotas of six bushels a seeded acre for wheat, oats, barley and rye at Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta delivery points. He said these would be increased "just as rapidly as possible."

The full charges against Blank include murder and attempted rape, but he is being tried for murder only at the present hearing.

The specific charges arose from the death of a South Korean army lieutenant, Ee Chon-Sun, at the village of Chungwood near Chipyong, March 17. Two other persons died in the same incident, but the three men are accused only

REDS SPURN TRUMAN VIEW OF PEACE BID

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian papers said today President Truman's congressional message concerning the Soviet Union's peace proposals consisted, "in a spirit customary for Truman, of attacks on the U.S.S.R."

It was the first Soviet press comment on the President's message transmitting to Congress the peace resolution of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet and the accompanying letter of President Nikolai Shvernik. The Presidium is the body which acts for the Soviet, or parliament, when it is not in session.

Allies Claim

Kaesong Symbol Of Bad Faith

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Allies accused the Communists today of making "a universal symbol of bad faith" out of Kaesong, site of Korean war truce talks.

The charge was broadcast after a sub-committee held its sixth session in Kaesong without sign of breaking the deadlock over where to draw an armistice line across Korea.

The sub-committee scheduled another try for Thursday. Armistice negotiations were complicated by a dispute over latest Red charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutrality zone.

CHARGES RIDICULOUS

The "Voice of the United Nations Command," broadcast from Tokyo to Korea, said the "Communist charges border on the ridiculous."

The broadcast asked: "Why are the United Nations delegates assigned to an armistice mission constantly forced to divert their attention to the question of armed personnel in the conference area?"

Tampico Dark As Gale Hits In Full Fury

TAMPICO, Mex. (AP)—A dangerous hurricane hit Tampico with full fury this morning. Houses were wrecked. Early reports said 36 persons were injured by wind-borne debris.

Electric power was cut off to prevent fallen wires from killing people in the streets.

Firemen rescued 20 families from the wreckage of their homes.

The terrific storm hit about 10:30 a.m. E.D.T. in the midst of a heavy rain. The weather bureau estimated the wind's force at 78 miles an hour. The great force of 130 miles an hour at the hurricane's centre passed only about 60 miles east of Tampico, and was expected to hit the mainland late today 30 miles north of here.

Veteran Tampico reporters described it as the worst storm to hit the city in 15 years. Many lives were lost and the city badly wrecked in the last big hurricane of 1936.

Raging seas lashed Mexico's Gulf coast.

Dispatches from Merida, Mexico, said the storm wrought havoc when it swept across Mexico's Yucatan peninsula Monday.

Farmers said the corn crop was ruined.

In Cameron County, Texas, County Agent Frank Brunneman said there were 300,000 to 300,000 bushels of the valley's bumper crop still to be harvested.

Even slight rains, he said, would severely endanger the remaining crop.

Tehran Talks Break Off As Oil Crisis Deepens

ST. LAURENT RETIREMENT SAID CERTAIN

May Leave Post
Next Year

Despite denials through regular news service channels from Ottawa, informed Liberal sources state that Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent intends to retire from politics before the next national general election.

His impending retirement has been reported this week in influential papers as the Winnipeg Free Press and the Vancouver Sun. The Times has learned that prominent politicians within the party are already laying plans to choose his successor.

MAY BE IN 1952

It is probable, these sources say, that the announcement may not come until next year.

After it comes a national Liberal convention would be called to choose a new leader. The party selection would automatically become Prime Minister and would have a year or so to prepare for the election in 1953.

Premier St. Laurent is 69 and has had three years as Prime Minister. He was chosen as party leader in 1948 when the late W. L. Mackenzie King stepped down, became the head of the government in this way, and led the Liberals to a smashing victory in the 1949 election.

Among Liberal insiders speculation is already growing on the probable successor to Mr. St. Laurent.

ABBOTT, PEARSON

There is reported to be formidable support for both Finance Minister Douglas Abbott and Foreign Affairs Minister Lester B. "Mike" Pearson. It is possible they'll be the two chief contestants in a leadership convention.

Currently the two most powerful cabinet ministers are Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe and Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner, but they are feeling the pressure of long cabinet service.

Mr. Howe declined to contest the post with St. Laurent in 1948. Gardiner ran and was roundly defeated.

Between the two major contenders Abbott has the advantage of longer experience in party politics and years as a cabinet minister. Pearson entered the government in 1948 at St. Laurent's request and has had a brilliant career as the foreign affairs minister. He has the edge of not being associated with past mistakes of the government.

FIRE RAGING AT COWICHAN

The west shore of Lake Cowichan was reported ablaze today in a 1,500-acre forest fire which has destroyed 5,000,000 board feet of timber.

The Vancouver Island fire is considered one of the worst in the province which has become a giant smudgepot with commercial airplane pilots spotting smoke at altitudes of 14,000 feet.

The Island and the Kootenay district are the two main battlefronts.

(See story on Sooke fire on page 13.)

A. C. WURTELE

'Dark Horse' For Esquimalt Splits Tories

Internal warfare in the provincial Progressive Conservative Party broke into the open again today when Cmdr. Alfred C. Wurtele, R.C.N., retired, announced he will stand as an independent candidate in the Esquimalt by-election.

He will be supported by W. A. C. Bennett of Kelowna and Mrs. Tillie Rolston of Vancouver, the two Conservatives who bolted the Coalition ranks at the last session of the Legislature.

Commander Wurtele, who has served five years as a councillor in Esquimalt, is the "dark horse" candidate hinted at by Mr. Bennett when he came to Victoria Tuesday.

LOVES DISTRICT

The retired navy officer was approached by Esquimalt Conservatives some weeks ago to contest the Coalition nomination, but later the party organization decided not to oppose the Liberals for the nomination.

Wurtele and Bennett conferred Tuesday night and Wurtele announced his candidature this morning.

"I am standing for Esquimalt," he said, "because I love the district. I am happy to have the support of Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Rolston. Like a lot of people I am disturbed about the autocratic attitude of the government."

Wurtele, 54, served 25 years in the Canadian navy, ashore and afloat, before retiring in 1945. He was an associate of Commander Charles Beard, whose death last year left the Esquimalt seat vacant.

Married in Victoria, he has lived off and on in Esquimalt for 19 years, except when naval duties called him elsewhere. He was first elected to Esquimalt council in 1946 and has since been twice re-elected.

Guerrillas Fight Chinese Commies

HONG KONG (AP)—The independent Chinese newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po reported today a battle is raging on the Indo-China border between guerrillas and Chinese Communist troops.

A dispatch from Nanking said the fighting was inside Red China, in Kwangsi province. The newspaper's dispatch quoted Communist authorities in Kwangsi province as admitting resistance was tough.

Iranian P.M. Announces Conference Cessation

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh announced tonight that the British-Iranian oil talks had broken down.

LONDON (AP)—The Cabinet met today in emergency session on the prospects of imminent collapse of the British-Iranian oil dispute negotiations.

Prime Minister Attlee presided over the session, which was attended by Sir William Fraser, chairman of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, whose holdings in Iran have been nationalized.

The Tehran Government's reply to a British oil mission's ultimatum has been delayed, a Foreign Office spokesman reported, adding that Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh, of Iran, asked for—and got—an extension of the deadline until after his cabinet met tonight.

In a Tehran-New York 'phone call Joseph Mazandi, United Press staff correspondent, said that Iran had just handed Britain a proposal for continuation of their oil talks after a British ultimatum on a new compromise proposal over oil-field management expired.

Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal and leader of the British oil mission in Tehran, was expected to fly back to London at once should the Iranian answer to it.

British demands be a flat "no." But some officials said he might delay his return by 48 hours or so, should Iran show the slightest inclination to come to terms.

Collapse of the Tehran talks would face British leaders with the question whether troops should be sent to occupy the Iranian oil refinery port of Abadan on the Persian Gulf. A Government spokesman in the House of Lords said recently Britain would occupy Abadan under certain circumstances, which he did not define.

However, many observers said it was unlikely Britain would risk charges of aggression before the United Nations by undertaking any military expedition in Iran.

Mossadegh Voted Confidence

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Parliament gave a vote of confidence today to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh on his stand rejecting the latest British proposals for settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. But the lower house urged him to continue the oil crisis negotiations which are threatening to break down.

The vote of the Majlis (lower house) was 72 to nothing. Earlier the Senate had approved the nationalistic premier's uncompromising policies by a vote of 33 in favor of three abstentions.

This new parliamentary move came an hour after the original deadline set by Britain's chief negotiator, Richard Stokes, who yesterday said he would return to London unless Mossadegh abandons his stonewall stand against the British proposals.

A British spokesman said Stokes extended his ultimatum deadline to 3 p.m. today (8:30 a.m. E.D.T.) in view of the fact that parliament appeared to want to keep the talks from breaking down.

Later, Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi said the cabinet would meet at 4 p.m. to draft an answer to Stokes' latest statement. This seemed to make it plain that the Iranian government was ignoring the Stokes deadline, which apparently irritated the Iranians.

Fatemi told reporters that "we have the utmost desire to settle the oil dispute in friendly talks." The vote of the lower house indicated that the Stokes ultimatum had one effect—chipping into the stone wall of Premier Mossadegh's objections to the British proposals. Mossadegh told the house he had asked Stokes to explain the British proposals further, with regard to British management of day-to-day operations at the Abadan refinery, and added that thereafter "any decision taken will be in the best interests of Iran."

Previously Mossadegh, according to Stokes, showed no inclination whatsoever to agree to the British plan under which British technicians could remain on the job.

There was little debate in the public session of the Majlis when Mossadegh appealed for support. But in a preceding private session an informed source said deputies made it clear they wanted to try to avoid a breakdown.

South Korean Infantry Capture Dominating Hill

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP)—South Korean infantrymen, attacking behind the most sustained artillery barrage of the Korean war, captured a dominating hill in rugged eastern Korea today.

From its crest the South Koreans "look down the throats" of Communists on other hills north of Yanggu, Associated Press correspondent George A. McArthur reported.

South Koreans seized two other hills on the eastern front, capturing one from counter-attacking Reds. Communist forces clung to three other eastern ridges they had seized in fierce counter-attacks Tuesday.

All heavy fighting was along the eastern front. Planes and warships joined United Nations artillery in supporting South Korean infantrymen.

The U.S. cruiser Toledo and destroyer Wedderburn hit "16 better grain haulage needed for prairies."

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—The president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Association, J. H. Wesson, said last night that better transportation must be provided for western grain if Canada is to meet her commitments under the international wheat agreement.

Clearing the west's expected bumper crop will be a serious problem, he said at a farmer's meeting in Prince Albert.

Hear Mr. Bennett an' Mrs. Rolston are lookin' fer a dark horse fer th' Esquimalt election. Last one I saw was goin' down Fisgard Street.

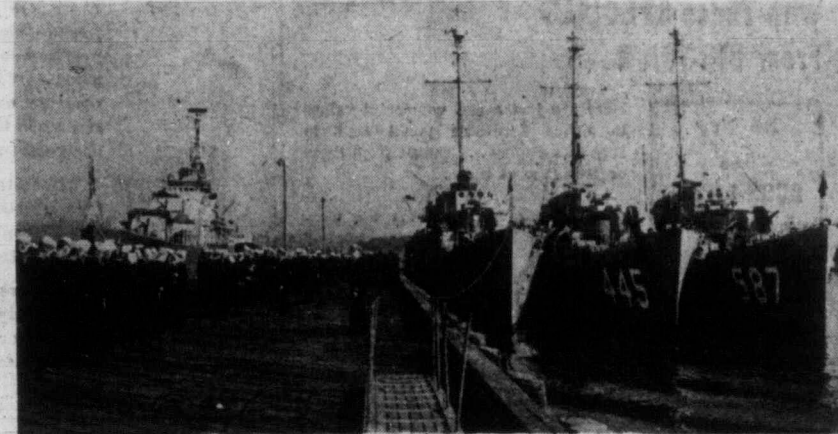

Esquimalt's still worried about its garbage. So they're goin' ta put it in th' hands of a committee.

It's a problem fer them civil defense folks. They gotta learn everythin' perfect—an' they hope they never use it.

Destroyers Galore At Esquimalt

Esquimalt Dockyard was hustling with activity today when the Canadian destroyer Crusader arrived home from Pearl Harbor to be made shipshape for Royal visit in October. Sailors from three U.S. destroyers at right were on inspection parade as Crusader, in background, warped into jetty. The Canadian ship, on three weeks' training cruise, will carry Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Victoria from Vancouver on Oct. 14 for a four-day visit to Island, one day in city.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

'LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD'

THAT old newspaper bromide about "Local boy makes good" seemed to me particularly apt for the caption of this particular column, as it deals with the story of a Victoria lad who got his start on the ladder of success right here and is now making good in the international field.

Just about 30 years ago, Frederick J. Brand, a local student, was awarded the first of the bursaries offered to the children of deceased or disabled war veterans, under the I.O.D.E. War Memorial scheme. With its help, he went to the University of British Columbia, where he made a brilliant showing in mathematics, among other things.

OVERSEAS SCHOLARSHIP

SO WELL did young Brand do, that, in the course of a couple of years, he received a further award of one of the first of the overseas scholarships—another I.O.D.E. gift under its educational memorial plan. With it, he went to Oxford University and, again, in England distinguished himself with his academic prowess.

PRaised BY GERMANS

THE BEST evaluation of his personal success as an education officer under BAOR comes from the Germans themselves, as expressed in newspaper articles from Dortmund, where he has been stationed for several years. The Westdeutsche Tageblatt, of May 5, has this to say:

"Mr. F. J. Brand, head of Die Brücke, will leave Dortmund in the next few days in order to take over still greater responsibilities in Hamburg. To people of this city who keep their eyes upon purposes that are general and unifying and stand above the uncertain opinions of the day, his name is a source of pride. It is one of those who, in spite of, or even because of, their quiet and unobtrusive manner, are in a position to impress on their activities the unmistakable stamp of their character. Under his influence, Die Brücke has never ceased to be a place of broadmindedness, from its clearly stated purpose: To promote, without any prejudice, the idea of international unity by increasing our knowledge of one another, and deepening our essentially western Christian bonds. With an open-minded readiness for a spiritual adventure, Mr. Brand made the attractive room at the Burgplatz a place of independent exchange of ideas that were not restricted only to the Anglo-Saxon world. And he created an atmosphere in which urban vitality, the progress of discussion, and recasting humor were at home. Above all, the youth of the city who are interested in new fields of thought were strongly attracted. The 'Brücke Trust,' introduced by him as a forum for objective discussion and frank debate, has become particularly popular."

CULTURAL CENTRE

IN mourning his pending departure, the Ruhr Nachrichten, another German newspaper, said, in part:

"Since the 21st June, 1945, the day of the opening of the Brücke, Mr. Brand conducted the institute. First hesitating, then with growing interest, the Dortmund population, above all the youth, has been interested in Die Brücke. Today we may say that it has become a true cultural centre of the town. The bright-eyed, reserved Canadian in his native country he took mathematics at the University of British Columbia—has transferred the clear, objective tone of his science in the program of the Brücke. No ostentatious propaganda could be noticed here; one wanted to come to an understanding out of the spirit and to convince through appeal to facts. His broad-mindedness, the progress by holding numerous lectures, and he generously kept the Brücke open for cultural efforts of all kinds. But by personal, but by example, the Brücke has become a democratic forum of the city."

PROUD HERITAGE

SUCH unsolicited testimonials from the press of occupied Germany constitute more than an ordinary tribute to that former Victorian—they speak volumes for the outstandingly brilliant work he has done there and the impression he has left on all those with whom he came in contact.

If ever the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire should want some tangible evidence of the far-reaching effect and value of their living war memorial educational scheme, they have it in the case of Fred J. Brand. The bread they cast upon the waters in giving this veteran's son help to higher education 30 years ago is returning a thousandfold in his achievement in building part of the foundations upon which world peace will ultimately be based, and—ironically, perhaps—building it in the very country in the fight against which his own father gave his life.

Cool Reception Given Extradition Proposal

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario officials have received critically a United States request for an opportunity to punish Canadians who sell fraudulent stocks in the U.S.

A provincial crime committee was told yesterday that swindling of U.S. citizens by Toronto-based stock sellers can only be halted by a complete revision of the extradition treaty between the two countries.

The statement came in an 8,000-word letter from Richard B. McEntire, a commissioner of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

But Attorney-General Porter of Ontario sounded a critical note.

"Their solution is a new extradition treaty," he said. "They don't suggest any further forms of co-operation. It's got to be a new treaty—and that's all."

Changing the treaty is a federal matter. At an earlier session of the committee, appointed last March to investigate administration of justice in the province, Mr. Porter said the basis for extradition would need to be closely defined to prevent Ontario residents being called before U.S. courts on trivial charges.

CATERPILLAR HORDE NEARS BIG U.S. CITY

To Switch To Air Attack By Spring

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP)—A county agent said today that two huge armies of caterpillars advancing in a giant pincer movement will stop short of Albuquerque long enough to convert from ground to airborne attack.

Joe Cole said the caterpillars would don cocoons and emerge next spring as moths.

It was believed earlier that the millions of drought-starved creatures would move right into the city.

Scouting parties reported that one army was five miles east of the city and the other 10 miles to the west.

Cole's statement slowed the preparations of health officials who were reading D.D.T. com-pounds to spray the hairy crit-ters. Previous contact sprays had failed to slow the oncoming hordes.

Cole said they were about as long as king-sized cigarette and as big around as a fountain pen. The worms were eating weeds in their march and had not caused any serious damage.

Accused Surgeon Was Drug Addict

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UP)—A prominent brain surgeon charged with drunkenly injecting drugs into a woman who later died has admitted that he once was a user of narcotics.

Dr. Perry E. Hewitt, Jr., 42, issued a statement yesterday saying that in 1948 he had a "dependence on morphine." He added, however, that he voluntarily entered two hospitals and felt that he was "out of danger" after treatment.

Hewitt is charged with first-degree manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Allen Shuler, 38, of Borger, Tex. Mrs. Shuler died in a Muskogee hospital Aug. 9-17 hours after Hewitt injected drug in her neck to relieve head-ache pains.

Hewitt allegedly was intoxicated at the time.

To Build Oak Bay School As Planned

The new Oak Bay Junior High School will be constructed as a full-sized junior high school as planned, Walter Jeune, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, said today.

There has been talk that several classrooms might have to be eliminated to bring costs into line with appropriations.

Lowest tender of $689,000, received from Luney Bros. & Hamilton Ltd., was about $54,000 higher than the amount approved by an Oak Bay money by-law.

How the difference will be made up was not known by Mr. Jeune. He said the school board was working on the problem.

FIRE CHIEF 'DITCHED' BY TWO YOUTHS IN STOLEN CAR

Two youths in a stolen car who forced Saanich Deputy Fire Chief Glen Robbins off the road when he was speeding to a fire Tuesday night, are being sought by police of the district. Deputy Chief Robbins said he was driving to a Logan Street grass fire with siren sounding when the stolen car rode him into a ditch.

After getting out of the ditch, Robbins took after the car and found it abandoned at Maddock Street and Harriett Road. Two youths were seen running from it.

The car is registered in the name of Thomas Harris Bishop, 508 Speed Avenue.

WATER SHORTAGE FOLLOWS 'QUAKE

Destruction Of Storage Tanks On Hawaii Sets Up Critical Situation; Damage Heavy

HONOLULU (AP)—The heaviest earthquake ever recorded on the volcano island of Hawaii cost the Kona coast district most of its treasured water stores—with two months of normal drought ahead.

Property damage was estimated officially at between $750,000 and $1,000,000, but the water loss was the most critical.

The quake jarred the largest of the Hawaiian Islands early yesterday. It wrecked or damaged more than 200 wooden water storage tanks on cattle ranches.

An after-shock bumped the Kona coast last night. Police said it was weak and no damage was reported. The after-shock rattled dishes and windows in Honolulu.

Families along a 30-mile stretch of the Kona coast, on the west slope of Mauna Loa volcano, use tanks for storing drinking and household water.

Yesterday's tremor was centred deep below the undersea slope of massive Mauna Loa. The volcano rises 13,680 feet above sea level and slants 18,000 feet under water to the ocean floor.

Trucks were hauling emergency water supplies to Kona coast residents. The Kona coast normally receives no rain until well into October.

Coffee farmers, with their crop at harvest ripeness, rushed to rebuild their water tanks.

The coffee beans must be washed before they are dried and packed.

Cattle ranchers also began to reconstruct tanks.

Only two persons were reported injured in the quake.

There was no evidence of any impending eruption by Mauna Loa, one of the world's most active volcanoes. It spilled molten lava into the sea a little more than a year ago.

MacArthur To Snub Jap Peace Pact Meet Unless Conference Invites Him

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who led the conquest of Japan and assisted in its rebirth, apparently will not address the conference at which majority support for the peace treaty appears assured.

The ousted Far Eastern commander indicated last night that unless the conference—not merely the United States—invites him to speak at San Francisco next month he would not do so.

While the United States delegation to the conference probably would get behind such a conference move, it was not considered likely that such action would develop.

In what seemed like a rebuke to the administration, MacArthur authorized this statement to be released by an aide:

"As pointed out by Ambassador Dulles the other day, Gen. MacArthur has received no invitation to attend or address the San Francisco conference on the Japanese peace treaty."

John Foster Dulles, architect of the peace treaty, had consulted with MacArthur on possibilities of his taking part in the meeting "in a suitable way." Some observers said this fell short of a formal invitation.

Other sources said MacArthur had been asked to attend the conference, but refused. The invitation, they said, placed him in the position of representing the administration which fired him for his policies in the Korean war.

The treaty itself appeared asured of winning support from 40 to 42 nations that were at war with Japan.

Any drastic shift in this picture of success could only be brought about by Soviet Russia. U.S. officials continue confident the Soviets cannot measurably change support for the treaty although lively debate accompanied by Red threats is certain.

Soviet Spy Rings Active In U.S.A.

General Tells How Widespread Red Espionage System Working

WASHINGTON (UP)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby said today there are Soviet spy rings now operating in the United States similar to those already uncovered in the Far East.

Willoughby, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's former intelligence chief, told the House Un-American Activities Committee he is prepared to present the names of more than 180 persons who had made contributions to Russia's far-flung espionage network.

He did not say how many of the 180 were American citizens. Although he was sharply critical of what he considered mistakes in U.S. foreign policy, Willoughby said he did not feel the present administration was entirely to blame.

PRECARIOUS PRESENT

"The dead hand of the past rests heavily on a precarious present," he said. "We are still in the shadow of Cairo, Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam."

"Retribution has been swift and terrible. The victors of 1945 have created a Frankenstein that may yet slay them; the Red menace, international Communism."

Wearing his army uniform, Willoughby began his formal testimony by reading a prepared statement in a sharp, clipped manner. He said his statements were not politically motivated.

"I have no direct issue with the army or the State Department," he said.

Willoughby referred to the notorious Richard Sorge spy ring that operated in China and Japan prior to the Second World War. He said it fell to him as MacArthur's chief of intelligence "to confront this menace in the Far East, and to unmask the grimacing face of the Red Medusa."

CHIP IN MOSAIC

"The element which intrigued MacArthur's intelligence was the immediate recognition that Richard Sorge's story did not begin or end with Tokyo," he said, "but was only a chip in the general mosaic of Soviet strategy."

"While this case applies primarily to Japan and China, it represents a recognizable pattern that is working in the United States today."

Cadets Receive King's Thanks For Loyalty

LONDON (CP)—Canada's touring air cadets today received a telegram from the King thanking them for their "loyal message."

The telegram came from Balmoral Castle in reply to a message sent Sunday on behalf of the cadets. The earlier message expressed thanks for the Royal Family's hospitality in receiving the Canadian party at Balmoral last week-end.

Today the 25 cadets were still talking about their good fortune in receiving members of the Royal Family under such informal circumstances. Virtually every cadet as well as three R.C.A.F. officers and a non-commissioned officer, spoke personally with the King and Queen or Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

The party of cadets, led by Donald MacLaren, of Vancouver, chief Air Cadet League of Canada representative, will fly back to Canada tomorrow in an R.C.A.F. plane.

Mrs. Hearst Asks Interim Support

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, who received more than $6,000,000 under the terms of her late husband's will, today sought "reasonable" support from his estate pending settlement of Hearst's vast holdings.

Mrs. Hearst filed a petition in probate court yesterday asking for the funds, but she did not specify what she would consider a "reasonable" sum.

The famed newspaper publisher died last week, leaving an estate estimated at more than $200,000,000.

COMMUNIST PARTY MEMBERSHIP DOWN, BUT HARD CORE REMAINS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Membership in the United States Communist Party has dropped from 54,174 to 43,217 in a year's time, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has told senators.

And each party member now has back of him about seven to eight fellow travellers, as against 10 several years ago, Hoover told a Senate Appropriations Sub-Committee March 1 while testifying in support of his request for funds. His testimony was made public today.

But Hoover cautioned that the remaining party members constitute "a hard core dedicated to sabotage and to militant revolt against this country if and when the time comes."

Ex-Communist Official Says Lattimore Member

WASHINGTON (UP)—Louis F. Budenz, former Communist editor and party official, testified today that Owen Lattimore was described in party councils as the member of a Communist cell in the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Budenz told the Senate's internal security subcommittee that a Communist cell operated in the I.P.R. during the time that he was in the party.

He identified Frederick Vanderbilt Field as the member who reported on the cell's activities to the party "poliburo."

Budenz described the institute as a "captive organization completely under the control of Communists" and quoted Alexander Trachtenberg, who headed the Communist party's cultural activities in this country, as saying the I.P.R. cell was "the little Red schoolhouse for teaching certain people in Washington how to think of the Soviet Union in the Far East."

NEW HOME ON RACE ROCKS

A new home for the light-house keeper's assistant at Race Rocks will be completed soon, Tom Morrison, Transport Department agent, said today.

The new building is the result of department policy to have two separate quarters at the larger lighthouse stations where two men are required.

"Men in these jobs like to be by themselves," Morrison said. "The further they're apart the better."

Girl-Crazy Deaf-Mute Captured

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A girl-crazy deaf-mute wants to be electrocuted for a series of sex-motivated attacks on pretty Little Rock 'teen-agers, police said today.

Parram Bunny Youngblood, 24, told officers through sign language: "I want to be electrocuted. I'm a misfit. People don't like me."

The Toombsboro, Ga., youth confessed shooting Elizabeth Avery, 15, in the abdomen Monday night and slaying her 17-year-old sister Virginia on the arms and shoulders.

Youngblood scrawled "girl crazy" as his motive for the attacks. He also confessed that he leaped on 12-year-old Patricia Ann Miller last June 29, but was frightened away when Gov. Sid McMath heard the girl screaming and called police to the governor's mansion where the attack took place.

Fire Greatest War Menace; Preparations Inadequate

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington said today the spread of fire presents the greatest potential danger to Canadian cities in the event of atomic or other attack, yet means to cope with the problem are far from satisfactory.

Measured against the "ever-growing critical deterioration of the international situation," progress in civil defense is small, the federal civil defense co-ordinator said. There is even less progress "to cheer us" in the area of fire defense.

Yet development of an operational fire defense plan, particularly in those cities which may become targets for the enemy, is a challenge "which we must meet," he added in a speech prepared for delivery before the 43rd annual meeting of the Dominion Fire Chiefs' Association.

The Hungry Customer

UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS IN the financial markets, Mr. Anscomb deserves congratulations for the huge bond deal which he recently negotiated in New York. When this has been said several other points should be noted.

In the first place, it is not correct to say that Mr. Anscomb has borrowed $35 millions at an average interest rate of somewhat less than 3.5 per cent as has been publicly announced. In fact no one knows the cost of the new loan and no one can know. Since the interest and later the principal must be paid in United States funds, and since the value of the Canadian dollar may fluctuate up or down on the international exchange, the actual interest rate on the loan, in Canadian dollars, cannot be foreseen. It may be much more or much less than the 3.45 per cent mentioned in connection with the bulk of the loan. The provincial government is gambling on foreign exchange.

Second, it is clear that the government has paid a substantially higher rate than it would have paid if it had gone into the market at the first of this year.

In February the Federal Reserve Board pulled its support from under the bond market and the Bank of Canada did the same thing here. As a result, all bond prices dropped. Financial men say that if the new loan had been secured before the present credit restrictions began the government would probably have saved nearly 1 per cent in the cost of the new issue.

Thirdly, it should always be remembered in such loans that borrowed money, at the best of rates, is costly. We are borrowing $26 millions supposedly at just under 3.5 per cent, though the price may be higher or lower, depending on the value of the Canadian dollar. If that rate holds, the cost of interest on the new loan, over 25 years, will be about $23 millions. That is nearly $1,000,000 a year added to the burden of the taxpayers.

However, it is not the financial but the economic aspect of the loan that matters most.

In borrowing money from the United States the government not only is gambling in foreign exchange but it is bringing new money into Canada. It is adding to the current supply of money when that supply already is excessive enough to push up prices. In that sense the loan is inflationary.

In physical terms that inflationary effect will be still more obvious, provided that the government intends to spend the money it has borrowed. The government in fact will pour $35 millions into the market, bidding against the consumer for manpower and materials. It is just another hungry customer seeking scarce goods. The labor and the materials which the government will use are labor and materials which cannot make either weapons for defense or goods for the Canadian consumer.

It is not clear yet what the government intends to do with its new borrowings. Some $26 millions is to be used to pay off temporary bank borrowings but there is nothing to prevent the government from borrowing again from the banks. The question is whether the government will go ahead with its plans to spend the gigantic sum of $40 million on capital investment this year, or cut down its program and thus its inflationary pressure.

The federal government appealed to the provinces early in the year to reduce their spending, especially on capital account, as part of the nation's attack on inflation. So far as British Columbia is concerned that appeal will be ignored if the government goes ahead with its plan to spend $40 millions. In that case the British Columbia government's reply to Ottawa will be to deplore inflation and do what it can to stimulate it.

Actually the federal government believed that by raising interest rates it would prevent the provinces and municipalities borrowing on the present scale. Unusable to borrow in Canada at all, the provinces and municipalities went to Wall Street and there secured the money they wanted. The federal government's policy of credit restriction has thus been by-passed; Canada has contracted a large foreign debt; gambled heavily on the future value of the Canadian dollar; and, by importing new money, has added to the pressure of inflation.

It would be satisfactory to learn that the British Columbia Government, on second thoughts, had decided to play its part in the nation's rearmament and in the struggle against inflation by reducing its proposed expenditure.

Britain's New Crisis

AFTER A BRIEF PERIOD OF improvement the economy of Britain is clearly lurching toward another crisis like that of 1947 and 1949.

In a word, Britain is using more goods than it is producing, and borrowing the balance from its partners of the sterling area. Some substantial part of the imports from these partners is covered by short-term loans, called sterling balances. This simply means that a country like Australia, for example, ships goods to Britain and receives no goods in return, only a promise to pay in sterling later on. This process cannot go on long. At some point, not far off, the sterling partners will demand payment either in British goods or in money which can be used to buy goods elsewhere. And sooner or later Britain, by stretching it too far, will exhaust its credit.

The immediate problem of Britain is summarized in a very simple figure. If Britain is to pay for all its imports during the present year it must increase its exports in the last six months by $1.2 billions over those of the first half or almost a third. This obviously is impossible and the government is doing nothing to make it possible.

On the contrary, the government's latest policy will tend to worsen the trade deficit.

Since Britain is not paying for all its imports it must try to export more and use less at home. The government is trying to stimulate exports but it is not encouraging the nation to use less at home.

The government is encouraging a maximum use of goods at home—and hence a reduction in exports—by its policies of so-called social security. It is pouring money into the economy through its huge public services, which means in fact that the state is purchasing vast quantities of goods which should be going into exports.

The result of the heavy demand for goods within Britain is to raise prices and stimulate the growing inflation. The rise in British prices in turn raises the prices which Britain must ask for its goods abroad and thus depresses exports in a vicious circle.

Faced on the one hand with this economic dilemma and on the other with Mr. Bevan's left-wing political rebellion, the government's answer is political, not economic. It does not antagonize Mr. Bevan's group by any reduction in social expenditures so it is attempting to curb prices by increased economic controls of various sorts. And in so far as these controls hold down prices, they will encourage a maximum consumption of goods.

Higher prices would reduce public purchasing and leave more goods for export, inflation in this sense tending to cure itself. So long as the public is encouraged by existing prices to maintain its present volume of purchasing, so long will exports be diminished and so long will the nation incur its present over-all trade deficit.

At some point the deficit must be halted simply because the creditors of the sterling area will not indefinitely extend credit. But the basic economic problem is not likely to be attacked so long as the government is obsessed with the political problem of Mr. Bevan's rebellion and the attempt to retain office.

In all Mr. Gaitskell's latest plans for more and more governmental controls, politics over-rides economics. Meanwhile Britain continues to draw dangerously on its overseas credit.

The Universal Anglo-Saxon

THE MORE HIS WORK AND ANCESTRY are studied the more Mr. Churchill appears before the world as the universal Anglo-Saxon.

A detailed research of his family in England has just uncovered the fact that he is related not only to the late President Roosevelt but to George Washington, founder of the Republic.

This fascinating item of history was uncovered by investigators who were exploring the genealogy of the Washingtons in England, hundreds of years before the American Revolution. The Washingtons, it turns out, accompanied William the Conqueror when he crossed the Channel. They were a substantial family in feudal times and prominent in the affairs of Northamptonshire by 1657 when a great-grandfather of George emigrated to Virginia.

Back in the time of Henry VIII, when that insatiable land grabber seized the property of the Church, the Washingtons obtained Sulgrave, one of the smaller religious houses. But the family suffered financial reverses and moved to Brington and there one of its members married a Spencer. The Spencers became part of the great Churchill family whose present head bears that name.

Thus by an interesting coincidence Mr. Churchill, half American by birth, finds himself linked with the First American citizen.

When Mr. Churchill said in a celebrated wartime speech that the affairs of Britain and the United States must be more and more "mixed up together" he spoke not only from political experience but from the history of his own life which in itself is a symbol of the most hopeful movement of modern times. No one would underestimate its importance better than Roosevelt and Washington, relatives of Mr. Churchill.

No End In Sight

THE STATE TO WHICH THE KAESONG peace talks has descended gives little hope of an early settlement of armistice problems. There is no indication that the Reds have more than an academic interest in the negotiations. All the signs point to a mere stalling for time as their immediate objective, with a long-range purpose at which we can only guess.

The welter of charges of neutrality violation, the current Chinese invitations to Canadian troops to meet in no-man's land for social purposes, and the general atmosphere created by the Communist representatives at Kaesong offer little encouragement. For the United Nations delegates who must cope directly with the enemy tactics the situation must be frustrating in the extreme.

General Nukola, of the U.S. Air Force, applies four adjectives to the Communists with whom he has talked. He says they are immune to military logic, obdurate in their political demands, inscrutable in presenting them, and adamant in retaining their original views. If that is a fair appraisal, the Korean war, now well into its second year, will be a lengthy one.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MR. EMANUEL SHINWELL, British minister of defense, has been called a clown by no less an authority than The Manchester Guardian, for certain remarks which he made in Washington the other day. If Mr. Shinwell is a clown worthy of that name then he must be a very wise man. To call a politician a clown, indeed, is probably to exaggerate his talents. One suspects that Mr. Shinwell is merely an able minister of defense and a distinguished statesman. Let us reserve the higher titles of distinction for those who deserve them.

Mr. Shinwell is called a clown because in Washington he said he had only three days to discuss the defense of the free world with the Americans. He had to return to England in a hurry, he explained, to judge a beauty contest in County Durham. This contest, he added, "is much more important than the conference on small arms taking place in Washington at the present time."

THE GUARDIAN and other newspapers, with a notable lack of judgment, have assumed that Mr. Shinwell was only joking and that his joke was in bad taste. In fact, he was speaking the literal truth. He was achieving almost the sublime vision of the clown. Perhaps, after such a penetrating utterance, Mr. Shinwell can be promoted from statesmanship to clownship.

For of course a beauty contest in Durham is more important than a conference on armaments in Washington. It is only because this age is diseased, distorted and lunatic that a conference on armaments could be considered of any importance at all, or would ever be held in the first place. It is quite unimportant, in the philosophical sense intended by Mr. Shinwell.

SO ARE ALL the acts of statesmanship and all the works of government. In the scheme of the universe they count for nothing and will soon be forgotten. Whereas beauty, which Mr. Shinwell is judging at Durham, is eternal.

When Keats remarked that "beauty is truth, truth beauty," he said it better than Mr. Shinwell who, though a clown, is not a poet, but the meaning is the same. Mr. Shinwell has Keats' long perspective and grasp of essentials.

The threat of Russian communism, as discussed at Washington, is urgent, desperate and could be fatal. It is not important. Not in that deeper sense which only a poet or a clown can perceive. For the threat will pass. It will pass even if, in the meantime, it blows up civilization with all its poets and clowns. But the principle of beauty will remain even if there are no living creatures left to enjoy it. At Durham, therefore, Mr. Shinwell is judging one of the permanent facts of life, quite capable of existing without any human life around it.

I WILL AGREE that the modern beauty contest is not what you might call a high testament to beauty. It falls considerably short of Keats' ode to a Grecian Urn. A group of giggling young females wearing two small patches of cloth and otherwise naked is not generally beautiful in itself and its attractions, for the spectators, are more accurately explained by Freud than by Keats. We have to go back to the slave markets of ancient Rome or the harems of Turkish emperors for any exact parallel to this modern spectacle.

Still, even if we conclude that there is no beauty in it, there is at all events a human instinct, well understood and not necessary to mention which is, as Mr. Shinwell suspects, far more important than any work of statecraft, since it existed long before statecraft was heard of and will remain when, in a civilization too intelligent and virtuous to require man-made laws, statecraft is forgotten.

IN THE MEANTIME it can be seen that civilization gives us little time for anything of real importance. We are all too busy with the sordid business of making a living, with the Russian lunacy and with all these daily distractions of politics which would be unnecessary if we had passed through human adolescence—all too busy to consider or enjoy the important things of life which are seldom mentioned in the newspapers.

WERE I CLEVER enough to be a news editor I would publish eight-column headlines announcing, for example, that it was a fine day, or that the stars shone last night or that young women are beautiful, but I suppose the public would call me a clown and I would lose my job. Nevertheless, like Mr. Shinwell escaping into the higher clownship for a moment, I would be proclaiming something of importance.

The public's contempt would not destroy the validity of these things. It would only show, as does the criticism of Mr. Shinwell, how far humanity has departed from its original base in the Garden of Eden, how few of us are worthy to be called clowns.

Anglo-Iranian In Canada

Montreal Star

It is to be hoped that there is some basis for the rumor that the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company is interested in Alberta tar sands. Canadians are notoriously slow to recognize the potential of their great natural resources; it is fair criticism that they usually have been content to leave both the risks and the profits of pioneer exploitation to others. Certainly the Alberta tar sands are a notorious example of national neglect. They have been known for more than a century and they were first surveyed 40 years ago, yet nothing has been done about them.

There is little that is new in the recent Blair report except a higher appraisal of their vast volume and enormous value. This sticky blanket of bitumen, which covers 2,000 square miles to a depth of 250 feet, is said to contain more than 150 billion barrels of oil. They are a trillion dollar property, representing perhaps the greatest known oil reserves in the world.

Yet in spite of the indefatigable efforts of S. C. Ellis, a Department of Mines geologist who gave his working life to the deposits, and in spite of the solution of most of the mining and extraction problems, the field has been no more than scratched by experimental ventures. As long as oil bubbles up of its own accord there are few who will attempt to win it in harder ways.

Drowning Out The New Soloist

As Our Readers See It

DISLIKES RECEIPTS

The people of this province are being subjected to serious inconvenience and uncertainty with regard to the payment of the hospital insurance premiums. We are not only subject to threats, but after payments are made, it is impossible to get an intelligent receipt.

Surely with the great numbers of persons drawing large salaries for doing practically nothing it should be in order to pass some legislation (of course it must be compulsory, living under a semi-dictatorship) to protect the public.

Are these receipts—I have one now before me—subject to a shortage of ink, or are they intended to deceive the public and to make it difficult for the insured should hospital care be found necessary?

With the tremendous debt already incurred by our government it would appear that to scrap the whole sorry mess would be an economic victory for all concerned.

CAN YOU HELP?

Will you kindly help me by printing this letter in your valuable paper?

I am greatly in need of funds for my work and maybe there are some kind people who have some which they do not need and would be glad to give me.

I am not able to come and get them, but if they would send them to me I would be very grateful.

ELECTION CANDIDATES

As a shield against incipient Hitlerism, a law should be passed that political parties registered as such, be obliged to nominate a candidate from their own party.

Hitler's rise to power was accomplished by many diverse political groups allowing themselves to be cajoled into supporting a single Hitler candidate.

An Esquimalt Conservative leader says Conservatives voted against electing a Conservative candidate "out of respect to the late Cmdr. Beard."

Shades of Gilbert and Sullivan! Candidates may be honest, but it's the influences and powerful pressure groups behind them that need the spotlight in these perilous times.

FORGOTTEN CLASS

Your editorial quoting statistics from the U.S. regarding the cost of living is no doubt correct (so far as it goes) though you, I am sure, know as well as I do that statistics can be made to show "anything." It all depends from whence they come and for what purpose they are compiled.

No doubt one hour's work will buy more today, as the statistics show. But there are thousands who do not and cannot work. Does their dollar buy more? They today are the forgotten legion. If the governments forget this class at least we, the public (and the Press), should not.

An M.L.A. Replies

In an editorial in last night's paper you direct a question to me—along with other Island M.L.A.'s—in the following terms: "Are you prepared to abdicate your authority, are you ready to let the government repeal, in spirit, if not in letter, legislation which you have passed? Will you let the government, using the legal loophole of the Strathcona Act, 1927, invade the park and the rights of the people you represent?"

Further, the editorial reads: "And the members of the legislature, and most notably the Island members, have made no public demand that the legislature be consulted... Are they going to ignore their responsibilities altogether?"

I am somewhat surprised at these questions and comments. Not only do they suggest a pre-judgment of the case, but in all my experience of enquiries and commissions concerning matters affecting the public interest, it has not been customary for members of the legislature to publicize their opinions. Such hearings and enquiries are primarily arranged as sounding boards for interested parties and the public generally, affording an opportunity for all who wish to state their views—for the guidance and information of the government and private members.

Were any public stand to be taken by M.L.A.'s while such hearings are in progress, I know they would immediately be accused of bias, whichever side they took.

Under the circumstances, I am prepared to withhold my opinion on this controversial question until the Controller presents his report, and I have the opportunity to study it in an atmosphere free from the propaganda and pressure which have so confused the issue.

As to your further comment, "If... they ignore their responsibilities altogether the M.L.A.'s may be sure the public will deal with them at the first opportunity..."—that has always been the right of the electorate under our democratic system.

I am fully prepared to leave my fate in their hands—whether that depends on my supporting one particular viewpoint in any controversial issue or not.

The Will Of The People

No one will dispute that your correspondent, Mr. J. A. Hiberson, has the widest knowledge of the whole province and is an expert on the flora and fauna. Nevertheless one must take issue with him on the statement that "the future of Butte Lake should be left to the good sense of the engineers, etc."

The engineers to whom he refers are no doubt those employed by the Power Commission whose job it is to carry out the program decided upon not by them but by the Power Commission. What he states is quite true to this extent, that in the immensity of the province are many beautiful areas which thus far have not been denuded of their timber and that presumably for the time being at least remain available to the public.

The answer of course is that to begin with many of these are not on Vancouver Island, are not within areas dedicated for park purposes, are not generally as accessible to automobiles as Butte Lake would be with a few miles of road construction. But what Mr. Hiberson either overlooks or ignores is what is so forcibly pointed out by the leading editorial in Monday's paper—namely that the legislature, and that there is no higher authority, has decided that Strathcona Park, including Butte Lake, should be dedicated to the public forever.

It may or may not be true that larger fish can be caught in other lakes but this is not the criterion. I do not concede that Mr. Hiberson is an authority on this point and he shows himself not to be by his very statement.

For myself I can say I found the fishing more than satisfactory both in the lake and in the streams that enter it. That the raising of the water will destroy the shoreline is unquestionable and was admitted by witnesses called by the Power Commission. The lovely sandy beaches at the estuaries of the streams (fine fishing spots), such as at Wolf Creek and elsewhere, would disappear.

Whether or not the elk survive is beside the point—although it is to be hoped they would should the lake be dammed. Why take the risk? As it is, they are or should be specially protected within the park area.

The park should be properly administered as was the original intention and there should be a forestry station and lodge maintained as in the case of Manning Park.

The tourist trade, like the timber industry, with which Mr. Hiberson has been prominently connected, is of vital importance to the economy of British Columbia.

But even if it were not, the people of the whole province, themselves, are entitled to claim this park and lake as their own. The legislature should be consulted and it will be found that "the people of British Columbia do not intend to abandon their park."

Using Youth For Propaganda

From The Times, London

THE WORLD Festival of Youth, like any really large gathering called together on false pretences, has its aspects of incongruity and even of farce, but these ought to blind no one to the objectionable purpose or the disquieting significance of the spectacle in Berlin. The word "youth" as a collective noun is a self-conscious and relatively novel usage in most of the languages of Europe. Most Europeans who have their own adolescents ought to cence to look back upon would still regard youth as no more than a transient personal condition; the idea of it as a distinct and homogeneous social group, having a definable collective outlook and being susceptible to, or in need of mass organization, still strikes them as odd.

The usage might have remained no more than a piece of harmless portentiousness had it not been so very convenient to the engineers of mass movements in politics.

It served Hitler and Goebbels well; what began as an excuse for wearing uniforms, holding marches, and attending festivals ended as a key part in a system for excluding from the minds of men and women all ideas in conflict with the National Socialist clap-trap. Communism, with its addiction to the same technique, has made good use of "youth."

When, therefore, ex-youths permissibly smile at the spectacle of very small children in the mass chanting a Marxist version of "Ring-a-roses," or at the stage army of adolescents trailing the portraits of those well-known youth leaders Mr. Stalin and Mr. Pieck across the arena of Berlin, their amusement ought not to exclude other much more sombre feelings. East Germany enjoyed no more than the briefest respite from the Hitler Jugend.

Today the familiar technique, once more in fashion—the marches, the uniforms, the banners, the chanted slogans meaningless to any but the prepared mind—has been brought to bear to deepen the fatalistic divisions of Germany and to make it irreconcilable and permanent.

In the present festival the mass organization of the young people of the east German State is testing its strength, generating hatred against the western world, and threatening the west German Republic itself with organized disaffection. This is done in the name of "peace," which the Communist double-talk means "the fight against the enemies of peace," who are equivalent to the nations and governments outside the Communist system.

INTERNATIONAL ASPECT

Large and small groups of young people have been brought from many other countries to give the affair an international aspect, and it is designed to pay its part in the world-wide "peace campaign" as well as to impress and intimidate the Germans themselves.

The incidents which have marked the pilgrimage to Berlin have given an air of heroic endeavor to what was no more, in fact than a fairly commonplace jaunt. The German federal government set itself an impossible task when it tried to prevent its own nationals from going to Berlin.

It must be asked whether, since the western governments found it necessary to concert their attitude towards pilgrims wishing to go through Germany, they should not have concerted their attitude at the same time towards those wishing to go by other routes. If this had been done it might well have been deemed that the disadvantages of "discouraging" travelers were as great as those of prohibiting them, and that the best policy would have been to let them go unhampered.

Most of the young people concerned are probably able to penetrate for themselves the disguise of the blatant propaganda display in Berlin; those who are not will not have their illusions ended by being allowed to think themselves, however wrongly, the victims of some sort of persecution.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"DOWN in California the other day," said the Elevator Man, "I see where some young fella weighing 682 pounds fell to the floor when a chair collapsed under him. You'd wonder how a fella could get that big with only one mouth to feed. His friends couldn't lift him up again and they finally had to call the fire department. The men dragged Mr. Ten-by-ten to the edge of the porch where he could put his feet down to the ground and away he went. He seems to be a walking example, with help of the old saying about getting too much of a good thing. When you can't get up by your own efforts you're in bad shape, as any balloon will tell you. It's better to be short weight and you won't have such a long wait. Lower main!

"Now," said the Elevator Man, "when ever we read about people like that we all think, 'thank goodness I'm not in that predicament.' We'd hate to think we were so overburdened with fat that we were helpless. But if we'd stop a minute to look at ourselves we might find we're not so different after all. A good many of us go through life burdened with worse handicaps than too much flesh. How about our load of prejudices that we can't overcome even by being dragged out on a stretcher? How about our excess egotism, that bows us under its weight? How about that smothering layer of pride that keeps us from a full enjoyment of life? We may sympathize with the overly fat man, but he could well have some sympathy for us, too. Going down!

"It's a pity," said the Elevator Man, "that simple exercise won't get rid of that kind of excess poundage. And even if it would, I doubt if many would use it. Too many of us are like the young lad whose father said, 'When I was your age I thought nothing of a 10-mile walk.' And the kid muttered, 'Well, I don't think much of it myself.'"

FIRM BID REJECTED

Local Firm Wins In Argument On Tenders

Bid of $31,741 from Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros., Ltd., for 9,100 feet of water pipe was approved by public works committee Tuesday with the proviso that any increased costs be not over 5 per cent and delivery date be guaranteed.

The company stated their bid would be subject to price change and delivery would be in eight months.

A bid of $32,668 was received from N. C. Sherman, Ltd., Vancouver. The company said it was a firm bid with shipment in September.

City engineer Cyril Jones recommended the second bid as the price was firm and delivery date guaranteed.

Ald. Millard Mooney urged that the business go to the local firm and suggested the latter be asked if it would give a firm bid. Mr. Jones and purchasing agent G. F. Sharpe maintained such action was not accepted business practice after tenders had been received.

City manager Cecil Wyatt proposed the 5 per cent ceiling on increased costs and the committee agreed to accept the local firm's bid on those grounds.

Condition of 14 city-owned lots

In the vicinity of Queens Avenue and Spring Road, where the city has been dumping dirt and road material, was protested by Elsie E. Topley and 17 others.

Mr. Jones said his department would see if the area could not be cleaned up.

Beach Logging Out Unless All Debris Goes Too

Request of R. J. Carlow, 1470 Tattersall Drive for permission to remove logs six inches and upwards in diameter and 18 feet long from Foul Bay beach to the breakwater, was turned down by public works committee Tuesday.

City Engineer Cyril Jones recommended refusal on the grounds that Mr. Carlow would be removing only logs of value to him, but not cleaning up beach debris.

If an exchange could be arranged whereby he would get the logs and at the same time clean the beach, the proposal might be worth considering, Mr. Jones said.

"It would not be desirable to have logging machinery on beaches used by the public at this time of year," he advised.

V.M.D. Closes Docks To Deep Sea Shipping

The Aorangi and other deep-sea vessels which have been using the V.M.D. docks at Victoria, are having to find accommodation at Ogden Point.

The reason is that V.M.D. is now busy with its own shipbuilding and fitting work and is no longer able to handle the passing freight.

An official at Ogden Point said the next berthing of the Aorangi would be at the Ogden Point dock. He also anticipated that the docks there would be considerably busier with the closing down of general traffic at V.M.D.

Modify Suez Rules?

CAIRO (Reuters) — Rules for examining ships passing through the Suez Canal—a problem now before the United Nations Security Council—will be modified, an Egyptian customs spokesman said today.

In future, only customs authorities will be authorized to search ships, and there will be only one inspection of each ship, he said. Hitherto, coastguardsmen and soldiers have conducted independent searches.

Huge Demonstration To Urge Peron Run Again

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—About 5,000,000 members of the government's master labor organization laid down their tools today in a country-wide "strike" to demand that President Juan D. Peron and his blonde wife, Eva, rule Argentina for the next six years.

Workers representing every major city and hamlet began converging on the capital three days ago for a mammoth demonstration today, sponsored by the government-backed General Confederation of Labor, the Peronista Party and Mrs. Peron's Women's Peronista Party.

Peron and his wife are scheduled to speak at the meeting after union leaders urged them to run for president and vice-president in the Nov. 11 elections. Police are alert for any move on the part of the opposition to capitalize on the rally. Special guards have been placed on all trains bringing workers to Buenos Aires for the demonstration. Others have been stationed at important public buildings, bridges and power plants.

CAN BE DRAFTED

Peron has said repeatedly he does not want a second six-year term. But during recent months he has left little doubt in the minds of his followers that he can be drafted. If Mrs. Peron agrees to run with him, she will be the first woman in Argentine history to seek election for public office. It was she who fought to get Argentine women their right to vote.

If the couple chooses to run, their victory appears almost certain. Opposition parties are prevented by law from forming a coalition to buck the huge Peron political machine.

DEAL, England (CP).—Tom Blower, 37-year-old long-distance swimmer, has established a training camp here with the idea of swimming across the English channel and back. He would be the first person to make the crossing both ways if he succeeds.

THE ROYAL EDINBURGHES

(This is the third in a series of articles on Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. The fourth will appear tomorrow.)

By MARGARET SAVILLE

Canadian women who meet Princess Elizabeth will quickly discover that she has many interests and ideas in common with them. This young Royal wife and mother is essentially a home-lover, with domestic tastes and practical knowledge too. Sensibly trained by the Queen, the Princess was taught to sew and knit and cook as a teenager. The scones and cakes she baked in the kitchen at Buckingham Palace under the chef's supervision always appeared on the family tea-table. The King would gravely taste his daughter's efforts and pronounce the verdict. There was one sad occasion when the buns were firmly rejected, later carried out on to the lawn by the little baker and thrown to the Cockney sparrows and pigeons.

Now she is the proud mistress of the most beautiful houses in London, and undoubtedly the most modern. Built 200 years ago, the Clarence House had stood empty throughout the war so it had to be entirely done over for Princess Elizabeth and her husband. They furnished it almost throughout with their wedding gifts, choosing elegant Georgian-style backgrounds to set off the numerous antique pieces. Though Prince is Elizabeth actually did the planning, she always asked her husband for his approval before she gave the instructions. Once when she took him to see their future library, he disliked the way in which two paintings of sea scenes had been hung. Immediately Princess Elizabeth had the workmen take them down, to be replaced in the manner Prince Philip preferred. Similarly when the question of uniforms for the Royal servants arose, the Court officials assumed the Princess would have the same dark blue suits and frocks that are worn by the staff at Buckingham Palace, all badged with the Royal Crown in scarlet. But instead she firmly insisted on having olive-green uniforms with an entwined silver monogram of "E and P" as the badge.

of state parties. Its walls are ivory and pale pearl-grey and the elaborately-painted ceiling, with its cherubs and clouds and flowers, is decorated with gilding too. The carpets on the polished floor are rare Aubussons of enormous value, the pastel colorings repeated again in the satin upholstery of the chairs and light couches—pinks and blues and mushroom grey and beige. There are several small mahogany cabinets holding beautiful old china and a great gilded mirror over the white carved fireplace. Though central heating has been installed right through the house, the Edinburghs like to see a log fire crackling in their rooms as well in the winter months. The flower decorations in the drawing-room are often arranged in a magnificent figured bowl of Stubbins glass that was a wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth, from American friends.

Most of their time when they are alone the Edinburghs spend in their own rooms, sometimes in Princess Elizabeth's blue sitting-room but occasionally using Prince Philip's study. This frankly masculine room is paneled with Canadian maple and has dark green drapes and carpeting. The chairs are upholstered in white leather, deep and comfortable. Little Prince Charles has discovered they have a well-polished surface that is excellently suited for sliding down to the floor.

Pictures and photographs of ships and sailors are all over the room but there are no flowers on the big flat-topped desk. Prince Philip's tidy nautical mind likes everything shipshape and in order when he works!

As with most town houses in the central London district, the kitchens of Clarence House are in the basement but they are still light and gay because they have been decorated with a special reflecting paint in primrose yellow. The flooring is of sound-resistant composition material in dark red patterned-like tiles. All the working equipment is arranged in the middle of the room, including the stoves and coolers, while the tables and sinks range round the walls. Most of the cooking is done by gas which also provides the hot-water system, though there is also a small electric grill for such things as bacon and fish. There are several large ice-boxes and a deep-freeze, with special pantries lined with shelves and dustproof cupboards in which the china and glass and silver are kept. Most of the kitchen tools are of stainless steel. The servants have their own dining-room and sitting-room in the basement and there is also a little linen-room for use when the housemaid needs to do any repairs.

The garden of Clarence House is not large, surrounded by a high brick wall. There is a lawn with several plane trees and flowering bushes and some border of herbaceous flowers, with roses and frises as Princess Elizabeth is very fond of these. Next door is St. James Palace proper, its windows overlooking the garden so that diplomats sometimes pause in their labors to watch Princess Elizabeth walking her terriers or Prince Charles and baby Princess Anne being wheeled out to sleep in the open air in their twin navy blue buggies.

Guests Served Simple Meal

Guests who dine with the Royal Edinburghs sit down in a spacious Adams period dining-room which has apple-green walls picked out in white, graceful old mahogany furniture and window drapes of ivory figured damask. The long narrow table is usually set with antique cream lace mats and exquisitely-cut crystal ware, probably using a favorite dinner service in green and gold English china. Dinner is served by the butler, the only member of the staff who wears the conventional black coat and striped pants, and two footmen in the green uniform. It is a simple four-course meal, often commencing with melon or a fruit cocktail followed by fish and then chicken, lamb or game and finishing with an ice-cream dessert. The accompanying wine is probably either a light white French vintage or champagne. The formal drawing-room to which the guests repair after dinner is a double apartment running across the full breadth of the house, a perfect setting for the brilliant gowns and jewels

by Thornton W. Burgess

Be not too trustful. Move with care. When stranger longes bespeak you fair. —Old Mother Nature

Little Stripes, small son of Striped Chipmunk, was over in the Green Forest. He had started out to see the Great World. Now he wished he hadn't. You see, he was lost. His home had been under the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard. It no longer was his home, although he would have gone back there if he could. He had left it without knowing that he would never go back.

Every new sound frightened him. Not only was he frightened, but he was lonesome. So it was that when Sammy Jay came along and stopped to ask questions, the small Chipmunk was quite ready to make friends with this handsome stranger. Of course, he knew nothing about Sammy Jay, but he felt sure that no one as handsome as this new acquaintance could be one to be afraid of.

"You must be one of Striped Chipmunk's children," said Sammy Jay.

Little Stripes nodded.

"What are you doing so far from home?" asked Sammy Jay. At the word home the small Chipmunk pricked up his small ears. "Do you know where my home is?" he asked.

"Of course I know where your home is. Don't you know where it is?" asked Sammy Jay.

Little Stripes shook his head. "Do you mean you are lost?" asked Sammy Jay.

"Perhaps," said the little Chipmunk timidly, "you could show me the way home."

"Of course," replied Sammy Jay. "I could, but I don't know as I should."

"Why shouldn't you?" the little Chipmunk wanted to know. "Because," replied Sammy Jay, "now that you are out in the Great World it probably is best that you should stay out in the Great World."

"I don't like the Great World. I don't want to stay out in it. Please, Mr. Jay, won't you show me the way home?" asked Little Stripes eagerly.

"All right," agreed Sammy Jay. "I'll try to fly slowly. I'll fly from tree to tree. Perhaps in that way you can keep me in sight."

So Sammy Jay started off flying from tree to tree, waiting in each for the little Chipmunk to catch up. But Sammy wasn't flying toward the old stone wall. He was going in quite another direction. You see, he knew that the little Chipmunk having left home wouldn't be welcome back there again. He was out in the Great World, and he would have to stay out in the Great World. So Sammy was leading the way farther into the Green Forest.

THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

At the turn of the century, automobiles were little more than mechanical monsters. Few ventured to try one out . . . fewer owned one. Little was known of these new fangled contraptions, although some felt that one day the auto would replace Old Dobbin. At the turn of the century, there was no effective means of arousing interest in the automobile . . . of establishing any sort of a sales program.

Today a multi-million dollar auto industry depends upon advertising, and basically NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING to keep the public informed of their new and advanced auto models . . . of the new and important features. NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING creates a definite sales program . . . upon which the auto industry depends. Today everyone is car-conscious . . . Vics Get Jump In Battle With Chiefs

Whip Tigers As Caps Lend Helping Hand

By BILL WALKER

"This is it. These five games against Tacoma and Wenatchee will tell," manager Bob Sturgeon said last night as the A's were set to do battle with Tacoma's rampant Tigers—rampant until tamed by Jim Hedgecock and Ben Lorino.

That's the story, then, of the A's bid for a W.I.L.L. playoff spot—five games with four to go. Last night was No. 1 and Hedgecock and Lorino shared the glory while Vancouver Caps were acting like true Canadian cousins in knocking off the Wenatchee Chiefs, main object of the A's attention.

The box scores show, for Victoria 5, Tacoma 2, Vancouver 7, Wenatchee 1, but the schedule is more important at the moment.

Tonight the A's host the Tigers (only two games back) twice while the Caps do likewise in honor of the Chiefs. No one needs an abacus to figure the result if the knowledge is supplied that Sturgeon's Stomperers are only three games behind the Chiefs going into tonight's double twin bill on Canadian soil. After tonight the Chiefs come to town for two games Thursday and Friday.

Last night it was Hedgecock who supplied the touch in the first eight frames, his only mistake being a change-up pitch which Vince Dimaggio lost in the oak trees on Pembroke Street in the sixth inning.

LORINO TO RESCUE
Then it was Lorino, called to the rescue when Hedgecock gave up a ninth-inning walk to Jose Bache and a double down the left field line to Merv Dubbers. Ben promptly tamed the next three Tigers in order to set the stage for part two of operation "first division" tonight.

An error by Butch Moran on Jim Clark's ground ball in the first inning put the A's on their way to a three-run lead, which eventually proved to be enough though two more were added for good measure in the eighth.

JACKSON TRIPLES
After Clark got aboard, Don Pries singled and Ben Jeffrey walked to load the bases. Bill White blooped into a double play and the threat appeared ended. But Hal Jackson proved otherwise with a sinking line drive to his off field and before he stopped

Cavarretta Sians
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Phil Cavarretta, praised by the Chicago Cubs high command as "a natural born leader," signed Tuesday to manage the team in 1952.

The 35-year-old outfielder-first baseman had proved to the Cubs management in one short month that their "snap judgment" selection of Cavarretta was no fluke.

Indians Maintain Bulge; Salem Sets Crowd Mark
Spokane Indians maintained their 4½-game Western International baseball lead last night—with a vengeance.

Using three Tri-City pitchers for batting practice, they pounded out a 23-5 victory on 22 hits.

As Dick Bishop walked to his 14th victory, Edo Vanni and Jim Wert enjoyed a four-for-six evening against the Braves. Jim Brown and Eddie Murphy each hit a homer for the winners.

Vancouver Capitanos also enjoyed a good evening, thanks mainly to Pete Hernandez. Hernandez, allowing but three hits, gained his 15th win as the runner-up Caps swamped Chiefs 7-1. A crowd of 3,860 turned out at Salem to watch Jackson down their Senators 7-3 for Bears' fourth straight win over the squad.

The turnout boosted the season's total attendance to an all-time record. Some 103,672 persons have seen the Senators at home this season.

GRID PRACTISE
Whitney's Canadian football team will hold a practise at Victoria West Park tonight starting at 7:30.

MURPHY BETTING CHOICE TO WHIP MAXIM TONIGHT
NEW YORK (AP)—Confident Bob Murphy predicts he will knock out light-heavyweight king Joe Maxim and become the new champion tonight.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds, and with a left hook to the body," said the husky, hard-hitting San Diego redhead as he awaited the starting gong for the 15-round title scrap in Madison Square Garden. The bout will be broadcast and telecast.

"I'll win—I've got to win," was the way Maxim put it. The swarthy champion is defending his crown for the first time since he lifted it from Freddie Mills with a 10-round kayo in London 10 months ago.

The bettors lean to Murphy. Solid support for the challenger in the last few days has zoomed him from an underdog to an 8½-5 choice.

Chinook Club Fishfest For Button Winners

The champion fishermen of Saanich Inlet, members of the Chinook Club, will battle it out with rod, reel and line next Sunday in Saanich Inlet for a $200 list of prizes.

Occasion is the annual salmon derby of this club, composed only of those members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association who have caught big salmon and won buttons over the years.

The fishfest will start at 6 and close at 4 in the afternoon with a prize presentation at the Brentwood Anchorage. The derby is only open to active members of the select club, those who have purchased 1951 Chinook memberships.

First prize for the biggest salmon weighed in is a $65 portable radio. A handsome picnic thermos set goes to the member who registers the second largest.

Other prizes are: 3 rod, reel and wire line; 4 reel with three lures; 5, 22 rifle; 6, Coleman stove; 7, landing net; and 8, a flashlight.

Prizes are on display at Wilson and Lenfestey's store on Government Street. Membership and derby tickets are available there.

Views Of Sport

By RED SMITH

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y.—Heat lay like a film of jelly on Long Pond Inn, the lakeside resort whose long facade is practically hidden by a banner announcing that this is the training camp of Irish Bob Murphy. The letters on the sign are green, but they are outlined in orange—to the articulate disgust of the red-headed harp who was getting ready to fight for Joey Maxim's light-heavyweight championship in Madison Square Garden tonight.

In the sweltering gymnasium in front of the highway there were, in addition to the spectators typical of a fight camp, girls in shorts and girls in swim suits and a scattering of children and twin infants in a two-passenger perambulator.

There seemed to be fighters everywhere. Paddy DeMarco was skipping rope. His head bobbing and jerking as he leaped about, snorting noisily. Sparring partners were taking turns sweating and grunting and punching in the ring with Billy Graham, and in an adjoining room Murphy sat on a cot, bandaging his own hands.

With one hand already wrapped, he would strip a length of tape from a roll, catch it in his teeth and tear it off, talking all the while. He said, although it was hard to believe him, that the weather was cooler today than it had been.

In any event, heat such as this was no hardship on an ex-gob who used to box on the deck of his ship in the pulsating blaze of an equatorial sun. His white pomeranian, Hopalong, lay panting at his feet.

There's No Time To Be Tired

"In a tough fight," he was asked—and almost all his fights are tough because he is a guy who walks in and fights for three minutes per round, belting and getting belted—"in a tough fight, have you ever got so tired you thought you couldn't lift your hands or even stand up any longer?"

"No," he said, "oh, when I was just starting I used to get tired like that. But it's been years since I've been arm-weary. Of course, I've never gone 15 rounds. I've trained for a few 12-round fights, but I never had to go 12. The longest was against Dave Whitlock; I stopped him in 11. But 10 or 12 or 15 rounds, I train the same way anyhow."

Murphy loves to fight. He shows it in the gym and in the ring and in the way he talks about his business, and he was asked if he is also a fighter who enjoys watching bouts.

"Yes," he said, "I am." But lately I've been so busy myself I haven't had much chance to watch fights. His match with Maxim will be his 14th major operation in less than nine months.

An Evaluation Of Joey Maxim

"I did take time," he said, "to go see Maxim and Ezzard Charles in Chicago."

"On the way up here," a visitor told him, "we agreed that the Maxim who lost to Charles that night can't possibly beat you. The fellow you might fight is a different Maxim, of course. But the way you crawl all over a man and keep punching him off balance, you'd have to beat the Maxim of Chicago. His left hand couldn't keep you off."

"I'm glad to hear you so so," Murphy said. "I had the same idea myself that night."

He was serious and he spoke earnestly.

"This time," he said, "Maxim will be defending his title. And he's to train to make 175 pounds, so he'll be in better condition this time. He needed that fight in Chicago. If this was his first fight after a long layoff, he would be different, but he'll be a good fighter."

"And remember," he said, after a moment's pause, "he'll be defending his title. That means a lot."

"And you'll be fighting for his title, which should mean something," a visitor said. "How long have you been thinking about the light-heavyweight championship of the world?"

"About two years," he said. "I was a middleweight until then and I fought a lot of pretty good middleweights you never heard of. Good boys out on the coast. Then I started to grow bigger. I've grown a lot in the last year or two."

"And before that, were you thinking about the middleweight championship?"

"Sure," he said. "What does any fighter think about?" (Copyright, 1951, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

'BY JOVE THEY COULD BE' Yanks Cricket Champs

VANCOUVER (CP)—Americans could be world-beating cricket players, says an English cricket expert.

But, he hastens to add, the British don't have to worry about losing their hold on a traditionally-British sport—not to the United States, anyway.

Robert Walker-Nivian Robins, captain of the touring Marylebone cricket team, said in an interview today:

"Of one thing I am convinced. If the United States was to take up cricket it would be a world-beater in five years."

"But there is no cause for concern."

"The Americans will never go after cricket in a big way. They like their excitement crammed into two or three hours and banned playing midgets. Will Harridge, president of the league, ruled that St. Louis Browns could not use the three-foot, seven-inch Eddie Gaedel in future games.

The 50-pound mite was inserted into the Browns' lineup as a "pinch hitter" against Detroit Tigers at St. Louis last Sunday.

In St. Louis, owner Bill Veeck of the Browns said he was "grieved" by the ruling but he would not protest.

"I assume they feel that Gaedel provided unfair competition."

"I figured that ball clubs tried to win the best way they could, provided they stayed within the rules," he said.

McCormick First Tennis Semifinalist

The third day of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club's handicap tournament saw Joe McCormick advance into the semifinals in the men's singles with a hard-fought 5-7, 9-7, 6-2 win over Herbert Richards. Other semifinalists will be decided later in the week.

Yesterday's results and today's draw follows:

Men's singles—R. Weir defeated T. Reid 6-1, 6-4, 6-1; J. Scott defeated K. Birch 6-4, 6-2.

Women's singles—B. Pollard defeated R. Gibson 6-4, 6-3; S. Price defeated R. Tremblay 6-4, 7-5.

Mixed doubles—B. Wilson, R. Weir defeated J. Orchard, G. Robinson, 7-5, 6-4; R. Gibson, T. Reid defeated R. McNeill, H. Dinney, 7-5, 6-1; S. Pollard, R. Bateman defeated M. Ogle, R. Foster, 6-4, 6-4; J. Brattell, V. Drew defeated R. McConnell, P. McAllister, 6-1, 6-4; P. Harvey, N. Weidman defeated R. Tremblay, T. Woodruff, 6-4, 6-2.

Men's doubles—D. Ironsides, V. Sherman vs. R. Mitchell, F. Bayles each won one set. Third set to be played later.

Rated Netters Take Task In Hand Quickly

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Canadian lawn tennis championships moved into high gear today with the arrival of the top-ranking competitors.

Fresh from the hurly-burly of the tennis wars at Quebec City, a plane load of top-seeded stars blew into town yesterday and almost at once began whacking their opponents unmercifully.

Canadian Davis Cuppers Brendan Macken of Montreal, Lorne Main of Vancouver and Henri Rochon of Montreal all won their second-round men's singles matches. All had drawn first-round byes.

Macken defeated Gert Lukk, Sarnia, Ont., 6-1, 6-1; Main stopped Frank Skierski, Hamtramck, Mich., 6-2, 6-0, while Rochon topped Mario Papperella, Detroit, 6-0, 6-1.

Pat Macken of Montreal and Pat Lowe of Toronto, who accompanied the Davis Cuppers here from Quebec, did not see action yesterday. They are seeded No. 1 and No. 2 among Canadian entries in the women's singles event.

Tony Vincent of Long Island, N.Y., seeded No. 1 among U.S. entries, saw his first action today, scoring a pair of rapid-fire victories after his late arrival.

"I realize the problems," he said. "But I certainly would like to come back here. Everyone's been so nice to me."

"I get along fine with Patterson, too. When I want something, I tell Pat. We talk it over and usually agree. When we don't, we always have been able to work something out."

"The fans, too, have been wonderful, while the ball club—well, they're giving all they've got and I think we can make it (fourth place). This week tells the story."

SOFTBALL SERIES TIED

Millmen Pin Hopes On Ross

As long as Bud Ross's good right arm can hold out B.C. Forest Products are even odds to capture their semifinal round from Butler's Aces in the Senior A Men's Softball League playoffs.

Ross made his fourth start of the series last night and evened things up two games apiece. The millmen jumped into an early four-run lead in the first two innings and held on to the final out to win 4-3.

Archie Slugggett opened on the hill for the Aces and immediately bumped into trouble in the first inning when three singles were enough to send in three runs.

Forest Products continued to get mileage out of Aces' blunders in the second and loaded the bases again in their half of the inning, but only managed to push one runner around to home. As it happened that run proved to be the winner.

Not until the top of the fourth did Aces stage a rally. Hal Yardley led off with a walk and stole second. Ronnie Benn lined out to first and John Furmston almost got himself a pitcher, when he lashed out a scorcher through the box for a double to drive in Yardley.

Furmston scored the Aces' second run of the inning on a single by Willie Benn.

Mickey Smith homered into the trees in left field to open the seventh and close the gap to one run at 4-3. Ross was in trouble after two were out when he walked Frank Kilshaw and Phil Benn, but Gus Hilton ended the threat by popping out to second.

MISS BIG CHANCE
In the last of the eighth Forest Products lost a golden opportunity to go further ahead when they put men on first and third with only one out. Aces' manager Rossy McLellan called time out and brought John Furmston in from the outfield to pitch. He promptly ended the threat by forcing Roy Logie to pop up and striking out Tony Bishop to retire the side.

If manager Wally Smith sticks to his pre-semifinal statement that Ross would start every game he is capable of, the final game tomorrow night should pit him against John Furmston. Both hurlers have speed and control and a pitching battle should be in store for the fans. However, up until now Ross has been getting a three-day break between games and may not hold out with only a day's rest.

Score follows:
Butler's Aces: 000 200 100-3
Forest Products: 319 000 000-4
Slugggett, Furmston (6) and Smith; Ross and King.

Sturgeon Happy Here

"Interested? Why sure."

This was the reply of manager Bob Sturgeon of the Victoria Athletics when questioned last night about his acceptance of a contract to manage the 1952 Athletics—a little ceremony that is expected to take place sometime between 8 and 10.30 Friday night as Victoria fans will be called upon to pay homage to their manager.

The occasion will

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

Now that the game of patty-cake is over and the Island All-Stars as represented by the Shamrocks and Nanaimo Native Sons proved the masters of the Mainland hodge podge, which was rumored to be an all-star team, the question uppermost in the minds of every red-blooded lacrosse fan in Victoria is "What about the playoffs?"

The balloons hang high over the heads of the Shamrocks, the Cinderella team which hopes to make Canadian lacrosse history—so high in fact that there is some doubt as to whether the string will carry the load when the playoffs winds start to blow.

The Rocks find themselves as favorites—the word "prohibitive" was dropped when Whitey Severson started wearing a cast—but are the Shamrocks the class of the league right now?

This will probably come as a cruel question to the followers of the green, but there's no use denying it lest the Rocks get lulled into a false sense of pride that goes with the wearing of the Intercity Lacrosse League diadem.

For example, New Westminster Commandos who carried them through to the Mann Cup finals last year, plus a couple of real handies like Alfie Wood and Bert Houston from last year's Salmonbellies.

North Shore Indians have reached their peak after a slow beginning and are being touted as the team to watch the more closely when the real firing begins Saturday night. The closer the better, the Rocks might say.

Vancouver Combines, a hit and miss aggregation all season, but hitting where it hurts the Shamrocks most—on the Memorial Arena floor—have the moxy that goes with a championship club. A dangerous threesome with one object in view.

Dickinson Taking Even Money

Bill Dickinson, coach of the Indians, and the man who is the prodding force behind the tribe's questionable but winning tactics, figures, rightly or wrongly, that the Shamrocks without Severson will be no more than even money to get by the semifinal round.

The issue was brought squarely to a head on the occasion of the Intercity Lacrosse League's first-ever monthly meeting held in Victoria this week when Memorial Arena manager Joe Dukowski rose to question the commission on a simple but necessary point as it affects a man in Mr. Dukowski's position.

What Joe wanted to know was: What are the prices for Mann Cup tickets?

Dickson, when he heard the remark, lifted his cold brown eyes from the chicken which had been occupying his attention until that time, and mumbled: "It will be the biggest let-down in Victoria's history if the Shamrocks fail to make the Mann Cup playoffs."

All of which demonstrated rather aptly, we must say, the position the Shamrocks find themselves in as they await the opening whistle at Memorial Arena Saturday night.

Last year it was a different story. The Shamrocks were the underdogs. Sympathy was on their side. Sympathy and a bunch of green kids who never used the word "quit."

Irish Beware . . . The Bigger They Are

This year the Shamrocks are on a pedestal, a pedestal they themselves built and a fulcrum from which they must operate. The dais is unshakable. It has been kept in good repair, but the Shamrocks must, if they hope to have the Mann Cup adorning their throne, first get by their Intercity League rivals.

They must do this with one of their main supports—Severson—missing. Mainland coaches agree and even though Ted Reynolds admits to being party to an incident which caused Vancouver scribe Austin Delaney to say "All Victoria sports writers are home-town fanatics," we must side in with the Rocks' cross-strait rivals and name Severson as the "League's Most Valuable Player."

The loss of Severson alone should be enough to rouse the Shamrocks to hitherto unattained heights. At least last year's club would have been thus affected. Will the 1951 edition of the Irish? Saturday night will tell us Chapter One of "Shamrocks—Mann Cup bound," is transcribed for posterity.

It is not generally known but the Memorial Arena Commission at first turned down the Intercity Lacrosse League's request for a reduction in the arena rental for the all-star game. . . In previous years, mainland arenas have supplied them facilities for "expensiveness only."

Highest average trapezoider in the United States is Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich., who has missed but 14 of 1,500 registered 16-yard targets or 99 per cent. . . It is rumored that Lester Patrick offered a half interest in the Cougars for a like share in one of Fort Street's leading restaurants. . . In answer to a query it was in 1928 that Patrick donned the pads for the Rangers replacing Lorne Chabot who was injured. . . He was named to Hockey's Hall of Fame in 1947. . .

Figure: released by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service indicate that it costs $250 to bag a moose, $200 for an elk, $100 each for bear and deer, $75 per antelope, $12 for a goose, and $6 for a duck. . . Fresh water fish cost $2 to $3 a pound. . . Patrons at Sun's cricket match between Marylebone and Vancouver Island All-Stars will benefit from details in which they may be lacking by a public address system. . . Nanaimo boxers officials have gone on record as condemning the support they received from the Nanaimo Arena this year.

Phil Smith of the Capital City Bowladrome dropped in this week to remind us that the alleys are again open complete with Tel-E-Foul and modern in every detail. . . Phil and his partner have made every attempt to provide Victoria with up-to-date alleys. . . They deserve the patronage of bowlers.

Eagles Meet Navy Nine

Victoria Eagles amateur baseballers will play a challenge game against the American Navy at Colville Road tomorrow night starting at 6:30.

Three Yankee ships are tied up in Victoria at the present time and Eagles manager Mike Leachman has obtained a game with a team made up of the crews of the ships.

On Saturday night, Eagles will play Bremerton at Athletic Park at 6:30. Bremerton won the amateur championship of the state of Washington last year.

Future Provincial Softball Champions?

With the Vancouver Island junior boys softball championship tucked securely away in their pockets, Elders junior boys of Sooke are waiting for a crack at the winners of the lower mainland series. Elders will play the winner of this series for the B.C. title. Front row, left

NOTCHES 20TH WIN

Feller Realizes One of Two Aims

Bob Feller has reached the first of two goals set before the start of the 1951 season.

The 32-year-old Cleveland righthander set 20 victories and a world series triumph as his prime targets for the season.

Feller realized his first ambition last night as he became the major's first 20-game winner and the way the Indians are traveling these days he stands a good chance of attaining the other.

NEW MILE MARK MAY BE SET WITH SLIDE-RULE

EDINBURGH (CP)—A scientific formula devised by an Oxford University medical professor, points to Roger Bannister, Britain's speed demon of the cinder paths, as a cinch to break the world's mile record within a year.

The prediction was made by Dr. R. W. Parnell of Oxford's department of social medicine, at the concluding session here of the British association. The formula, he said, was based on the scientific relationship of physique to physical attainment. The professor said he had worked out his yardstick by measuring the length of leg, height, weight and by X-rays the size of hearts of a group of sprinters and middle-distance runners. By taking the results and applying the formula it was possible to tell whether an athlete would make a good miler or a 100-yard sprinter.

"This man, I predict, will break the mile record at the Helsinki Olympic Games next year."

But to make the prediction a reality, Bannister must beat the record of 4:01.4 set by the Swedish star, Gunder Haegg, in 1946. (Ed. Note: There is no mile on the Olympic program.)

LEAGUE FINALE TONIGHT

Rocks, Indians In Semifinals

There is no doubt about it now, North Shore Indians will meet Victoria Shamrocks in one round of the Intercity Lacrosse League semifinals.

The possibility of this meeting became a reality last night when the Indians bowed 10-8 to Vancouver Combines in their last regular game of the season. More than 2,000 fans saw the Combines and Indians, either of whom could have ended up facing the Rocks, battle for a third place finish. Combines will pair off with second-place New Westminster Commandos in the other series, starting tomorrow night at New Westminster.

Indians held an early lead in the second quarter but were unable to keep up with the smooth passing Combines and lost out in the second half. Combines brother

Lobs And Volleys

By DICK FRAUL

The Victoria Lawn Tennis Club's annual "poor man's tournament"—the handicap affair—reached the half way mark today with numerous top players already sidelined by low-rankers with forbidding handicaps.

"That's as it should be," said one club official, himself an upset victim. "It's good for the morale of those at the bottom of the ladder to be given a chance to win a cup or two."

Nevertheless, some of the stars growled a bit as their heads rolled in the dust. Nobody with ranking in the first five enjoys a whipping at the hands of another lad who has gotten only the occasional shot in all season, handicap or no handicap.

This will be the last tourney on the Vic Lawn net calendar.

Club champion Ron Mitchell kept ploughing ahead, however. He has a minus 40.3, as compared with a plus 30 granted the lowest-ranking players. He meets up with a plus 30 next and he'll have six points to make up to draw even in a game. That's like making Dick Savitt play in a wheel chair against Lorne Maln.

However, it's all good sport, and nobody's complaining too much. There's a bit of irony to the whole thing, though. The men's singles winner will get a cup bigger than that given the B.C. champion. It's a whopping silver trophy worth about $500.

B.C. Chessmen Win

Playing in an international chess tournament at Blaine over the week-end, the British Columbia B players defeated a Washington State team 17-9, and the A players won 14 games, lost 14 and tied two.

BY-LAW GOES TO COUNCIL

Will Allow Cafes To Serve 'Dobbin Steaks'

Indications are that horsemeat will be on some restaurant menus in Victoria before long.

A city by-law to provide for sale of horsemeat in cafes is to go before City Council Tuesday next. It has been approved by council's legislative committee.

The new proposed edict will not allow horsemeat, which went on sale here recently in a Cormanor Street shop, to be sold with other meat from a butcher shop. Persons convicted of infractions are liable to penalties up to $100.

Asked why horsemeat in the raw state had to be sold in an establishment separate from other meats, but in cooked form could be served and sold with them, Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer, stated:

"We can keep tab on the situation as long as we know where it is being sold in the raw state and that the supply is inspected."

Inclusion of a clause to permit serving horsemeat in restaurants was made at the request of some cafe proprietors, he said.

"As far as we are concerned horsemeat is just another form of meat. It presents no special problem."

Under the by-law no restaurant or public eating place will be allowed to sell horsemeat for human consumption unless it is first brought to the attention of the public by a written notice.

One operator said a man won nine of 15 games of Skillo. Some throwers, he said, were so accurate they aimed at flies on the dart board.

GOOD SHOTS PIERCE FLIES

MALONE, N.Y. (AP)—Too much skill is killing "Skillo." Operators closed the dart games yesterday at a county fair here. They complained that dart - throwers, apparently using skill acquired in bar rooms, were too accurate.

One operator said a man won nine of 15 games of Skillo. Some throwers, he said, were so accurate they aimed at flies on the dart board.

City Public Works Committee Warns Stern Measures Coming On Dumping

Dumping of garbage off Clover Point was protested, a tree trimming policy urged and location of Royal Canadian Shows left unchanged by public works committee Tuesday afternoon.

"Put up signs and if they have no effect sterner measures will have to be taken," Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman, warned regarding the garbage.

Cyril Jones, city engineer, said the city did not dump garbage at that point but private persons did. Ald. Hunter termed it "a terrible mess."

"Tossing around of responsibility" from department to department in the matter of tree removal and tree trimming, prompted City Manager Cecil Wyatt to urge that appropriations be made for that purpose in one department.

Debate arose over a tree at 243 Kingston Street. As it was grown on a city boulevard by a private resident, the parks department maintained it was not up to the city to remove the tree or trim it.

The committee, however, agreed that the tree be trimmed by the public works.

EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR HALF A CENTURY

BUT ACT NOW...

Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than not making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.

Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.

All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.

City Maintenance Unification Set

City Council's public works committee took steps Tuesday toward consolidation of service shops for maintenance of parking meters, traffic and communication signals at the city's Garbally yard.

Proposal to establish a light mechanical shop at the yard was approved when the committee agreed to recommend a $1,000 expenditure on purchase of a building, removal to the yard and construction of a foundation.

A house 40 by 22 feet at Tyee Camp was requested by the public works department for the proposed unit.

Surviving Trio Of Quads Progressing

BROMLEY, Eng. (Reuters)—The three surviving babies of quadruplets born, yesterday, to Mrs. Muriel Brown slept peacefully in oxygen tents today.

Doctors said their progress was satisfactory. They are being fed by eyedroppers with a salt-sugar solution.

Mrs. Brown, 27, weighs less than 100 pounds and is four feet, 10 inches tall. The Browns already have a three-year-old son.

The fourth and fattest of the quads, Derek, died last night.

Like your children to take more milk? Try Rennet Dessert Magic to make them ask for more!

It's easy to make milk into rennet desserts with "Junket" Brand Rennet Powder (seven flavors, already sweetened) or "Junket" Rennet Tablets (not sweetened or flavored... add sugar and flavor to taste). Rennet desserts are even easier to digest than milk itself, thanks to the rennet enzyme. Try these "Nest Egg" Rennet Desserts tonight.

Give Sexy Females Chance To Be Good, Redhead Urges

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Today's lesson in the problems of Hollywood comes from a sharp-looking redhead named Gale Robbins.

Now don't go away in a huff, Miss Robbins is serious about this subject, since it concerns her future in the movies. Who knows?—the ramification of this subject might even concern the future of the entire film industry.

Here's her argument: "Sex is in a rut on the screen. Every time screen writers portray a sexy girl on the screen, they immediately place a bottle in her hand, a gun in her fist or make her appear—unwilling—in some man's boudoir. Shame on the screen writers!

GOOD AND ATTRACTIVE—Why does a girl in a movie have to be bad if she's sexy? Why can't she be good and yet have a wholesome, inner warmth that makes her attractive to men? Why does the other woman have to be the sexy one and the heroine a wide-eyed sexless creature? It's an insult to American womanhood."

Miss Robbins sees a good number of movie scripts. In her search for roles she invariably passes up the routine ingenue parts, even though they usually offer more footage on the screen than the parts she takes.

Miss Robbins gets the kind of role she's talking about in her current film, "The Brigand." She plays a fiery damsel who is courted by Anthony (Valentino) Dexter.

Scottish To Hold Concert August 29

Both pipe and brass bands of the Canadian Scottish Regiment will take part in a regimental concert at Beacon Hill Park Aug. 29, at 7:30 p.m., to aid the Solarium fund.

A variety of talent is being lined up for the vaudeville entertainment. Sgt. Stan James is in charge of arrangements.

Beacon Hill Scene Of Combined Show

Members of the Red Triangle Club of the Y.M.C.A. and the brass band of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will combine their talents in a concert at the Beacon Hill Park Bandstand tonight at 8. A lively program has been arranged, Lieut. John Tamblin, band conductor, reports.

Say 'Can-Can' Welcome O.K.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Dockside sources predicted today that returning combat troops would be greeted by scantily-clad showgirls doing the "can-can" despite protests of the "nightclub atmosphere" of docking ceremonies.

The transport Gen. Simon Buckner was scheduled to dock today with 1,300 rotation troops from Korea aboard. Odds were that the welcoming committee would ignore the protests and authorize the "can-can."

The spirited dance has drawn considerable fire from religious groups here who said it was "offensive and degrading."

Officials of Greater Seattle Inc., the group in charge of welcoming returning G.I.s, said they had not noticed any demoralizing effect on the morale of the servicemen.

Scouts Arrive Here With U.S. Vessels For Three-Day Visit

Three U.S. destroyer escorts arrived at Esquimaux Tuesday for a three-day visit. The ships, the U.S.S. Grady, U.S.S. Nickel and U.S.S. Johnson are on a 16-day cruise from San Francisco.

Each ship carried 60 reservists, 15 sea scouts and seven reserve officers.

Most of the reserve men come from the San Francisco Bay area. Some of them are Coast Guard reserves.

The sea scouts were met by Victoria scouts and taken by bus today for a visit to Duncan.

11 Candidates To Contest 'Territories' Elections

OTTAWA (CP)—Eleven candidates have been nominated to contest an election aimed at giving residents of the sprawling Northwest Territories some measure of responsible government. Three of the candidates will be elected to an eight-man council of the Northwest Territories. The remaining five members will be government appointees.

Nominations for the election, to be held Sept. 17, closed Monday.

Five candidates were nominated in Mackenzie South which includes such settlements as Fort Smith, Hay River, Pine Point, Fort Resolution, Snowdrift and Fort Reliance. The candidates are James Brodie, general merchant at Fort Smith; Maurice Rene Dames, pilot at Hay River; Stanley F. Dean, Hay River merchant; Robert Porritt, Hay River merchant; and Ed Landre Lorette, Hay River trucker.

In Mackenzie West, which takes in Fort Liard, Fort Simpson, Wrigley, Fort Norman, Norman Wells, Fort Good Hope, Fort McPherson, Aklavik, and Tuktoyaktuk, three candidates were nominated. They are Frank Carmichael, trapper; Karl Gardlund, trapper and power house operator; and Mrs. Vivian Roberts, housewife.

MACKENZIE NORTH

Three candidates also were nominated in Mackenzie North which takes in Yellowknife, Gros Cap, Fort Rae, Fort Providence, Fort Radium and Coppermine. All from Yellowknife, they are Mervin Arthur Hardie, clerk; John Murray Meekan, publisher, and James Guy Wheeler, broker.

Eskimos and Indians are eligible to stand as candidates but none was nominated.

Voters, including Indians and Eskimos, will pick three of the 11 candidates as their representatives on an eight-man council of the Northwest Territories. In the past members of the council have been nominated by the federal government.

"Getting The Slip"

One thing that grates me, gives me the pips, is that undergarment, the gals call a "slip." That ghostlike shroud, the lovelies all wear, when fixing their nails or doin' their hair.

Somehow they lack any line or drape, fashioned it seems, without any shape. They never hang right, not the slightest allure, sloppy looking things... & THAT's for sure. A real test for an ardent lover, a million times worse than the old corset-cover. With men's under-stuff they can't compare, even look worse than our long underwear. The most awful things I've ever seen, not a nightie or gown, but a sad go-between. Cut on the bias or cut anyhow, just N-O-T-I-N-G they do... for the slickest frau. The detail is poor, & badly sewn, but the gals prefer 'em, when answering the phone. Or for pressing a pleat & running about, their favorite get-up, before they step-out. Too loose I think, where they should be tight, a dame in a slip is a sorrowful sight. That's what I've thought, till the other day, but now my old hatred has all slipped away. 'Cause this new Half-Slip the G.F. bot, has erased those others, that seemed such a blot.

It's of filmy stuff, a Nylon gem, with frilly frills all round the hem. When she swings about, gives it a twirl, she seems to be loaded with rhythm & swirl. A misty mystery for all diaphragms, that hidden beneath are Grable gams. A fiesty new life before me is seen if she doesn't slip back to that old crepe-de-sheen.

ROCK SLIDE IN BABINE RIVER IMPEDING RUN OF SOCKEYES

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A rock slide in a canyon on the Babine River is impeding the main portion of the Skeena River sockeye salmon run, it was reported today following an aerial survey.

The slide is about 40 miles north of Hazelton and approximately 10 miles up the Babine from the junction with the Skeena.

Plans for clearing the slide are under way. It will be necessary to send a party in either by helicopter or pack train.

The Babine system is responsible for up to 70 per cent of the Skeena River sockeye run.

International Air Race Won By Ottawa Girl

DETROIT (AP)—Claire McMillen, of Santa Ana, Calif., and Marguerite Carson, of Ottawa, are the victors in the two big women's air races.

Judges here Monday declared Miss McMillen, a flying instructor, the winner of the fifth annual all-women transcontinental race—the famed Powder Puff Derby.

It was 2,348 miles from Santa Ana to Detroit.

Meantime, in neighboring Windsor, Ont., Miss Carson was ruled victor in the all-women's international race—roughly 1,000 miles from Orlando, Fla., to Windsor. Her co-pilot was another Ottawa flier, Betty McCance.

Both races were held in connection with the national air races last week-end. Neither Miss McMillen nor Miss Carson was first to finish but both were adjudged winners on the basis of handicaps and corrected times.

FORT DIX, N.J. (AP)—A flame enveloped jet plane—raining fiery death as it fought a losing battle for altitude—plowed into a group of soldiers yesterday. Thirteen men were burned to death. Of the 20 injured, one died today.

Two of the victims were in the plane, a T-33 Air Force trainer that had taken off only moments before from nearby McGuire air base.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

If everybody always bid and played bridge according to the book, you'd find me playing tidbits or a nice snappy round of croquet. Part of the thrill of bridge is getting yourself into the soup—and out of it.

It was a nice thick soup that South plunged into when he bid four spades. He was doomed to lose at least two spades and two clubs. But the hand gave him game and rubber.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South had a chance—if he could guess the way to play the red suits. If West had led from the king of hearts, South could let the first trick ride around to the jack and then repeat the heart finesse.

This would give him an immediate club discard, after which it would be safe to lead trumps and give up two trumps and one club.

As it happened, however, West was the sort of player who had strong (not necessarily sensible) opinions about opening leads. "Never lead from a king," he had often been heard to say. This was considered the latest word fifty years ago, and that was good enough for West.

For this reason South didn't relish the idea of playing West for the king of hearts. West might have held kings in three of the four suits, but he surely didn't have the king of diamonds and therefore could have led a diamond if he had held the king of hearts.

Q.C.A. To Fly New Route; Prince Rupert-Ketchikan

OTTAWA (CP)—The Air Transport Board announced today it has approved a licence for Queen Charlotte Airlines, Ltd., to operate a commercial air service between Prince Rupert, B.C., and Ketchikan, Alaska.

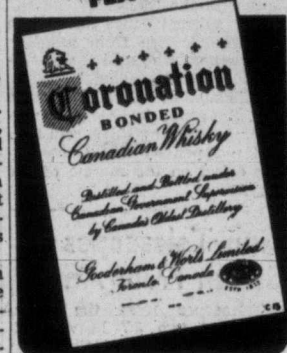

The license calls for a non-scheduled service to carry passengers and goods between Prince Rupert, in northern British Columbia, and Ketchikan, about 100 miles northwest in the Alaskan panhandle.

The company told the board the chief means of transportation linking the two points now is a once-weekly boat service.

AMMONIATED LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

Mother! Give your children the benefit of this promising new method of attacking tooth decay.

In preliminary tests conducted with this famous formula at the University of Illinois Foundation, case after case of reduction in the incidence of tooth decay was reported. No wonder it has caused such interest in dental circles! Now the manufacturers of Lis-terine Antiseptic make this same formula readily available to you and to your family.

Use Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste regularly, as directed, morning and night and right after eating. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. (Canada) Ltd., Toronto.

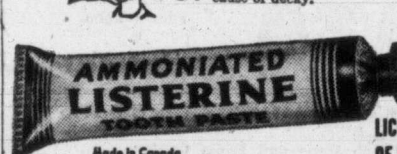

1. Chemical action reduces mouth acidity. Mouth acidity encourages decay.

2. Mechanical action cleans surfaces as teeth are brushed—helps break up and remove decay-breeding deposits.

3. Chemical action checks acid-forming bacteria—a major cause of decay.

A complete shutdown of Greater Victoria sawmills threatened by dwindling supplies of logs would throw more than 1,000 persons out of work, it was revealed today.

Victoria M.L.A. Repeats Plea To Save Buttle

A plea he made during the last session of the Legislature for the guarding of Buttle Lake in Strathcona Park against invasion by industry was repeated today by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot.

The third member of the Legislature for Victoria said in a statement to the Victoria Times:

"I not only plead for Buttle Lake but for many of our scenic historical sites which are being sacrificed for the 'almighty dollar'."

Capt. Proudfoot recalled that during the 1951 session of the House he placed a great deal of data on Buttle Lake before the members including maps and illustrations.

"Very little notice was taken by the members at the time even though I predicted this would become a real live issue before the next session," he said.

FAR SUPERIOR

Capt. Proudfoot said he worked hard in an effort to save the scenic value of the Malahat Drive when logging of the eastern slopes of Saanich Inlet was proposed.

The beauty of the Malahat was worthy of preservation as was Buttle Lake.

"As a member of the Legislature's hospital insurance inquiry board I have just been through Banff and in my opinion Strathcona Park is far superior in natural beauty and tourist appeal," he said.

The Victoria M.L.A. thought Buttle Lake and Strathcona were more than pay for proper development within 25 years.

If there was no other source of power in the Campbell River area than Buttle, Capt. Proudfoot said he would not oppose any action to dam the lake.

But Upper Campbell Lake could be used to store water for the expansion of the John Hart power plant, in his opinion.

Victoria West Petitioners Strike Rezoning Rumors

Victoria Town Planning Commission members today had no comment on a claim of 425 Victoria West petitioners that the commission proposed to "rezone" certain areas in this community for manufacturing.

In the meantime, reports of land speculation in Victoria West have followed on the heels of zoning change rumors.

Rumors of general changes in the zoning picture throughout the city, pending release of the proposed new zoning by-law, resulted in a petition to the mayor and council today.

Residents fear property devaluation.

Sunny Skies In Store At Least Two Days More

Victoria today entered its 72nd day of drought and according to weatherman William Mackie, sunny skies are in store for at least two days more.

Slightly cooler weather was due to weak disturbances which passed over the island and part of the mainland Tuesday night.

High Tuesday was 77 degrees and the estimated high for today and tomorrow will be from 70 to 72 degrees.

Winds were westerly at 15 miles per hour this morning and were to become lighter tonight and tomorrow.

30 Trapped By Sooke Fire Now Declared Safe

Destruction of residences at Anderson Cove on Sooke Harbor, and removal by boat of about 30 residents trapped by a forest fire, were averted overnight when fire fighters battled the flames to a standstill.

The blaze was stopped a short distance from Glenair Farm resort, and two nearby private homes.

The East Sooke fire now covers 800 acres.

Fishing boats stood off shore in the thick smoke, ready to take the stranded people, including 20 resort guests, to safety.

"Eighteen hard-working Forest Service firefighters, fortified by coffee and sandwiches prepared by the management and guests of the Glenair Resort, battled the fire all night. By this morning, numerous spot fires in the Anderson Cove area were under control."

Supervision In Strike Votes Not Wanted

Elimination of the government supervised strike vote was urged by trade union representatives today at the legislative committee hearing on proposed amendments to the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

"The strike vote rightfully belongs to trade unions without interference from government or management," Dan Radford, B.C. Federation of Labor president, told the five-man board of the legislature. "I don't think the government should distrust the unions to that extent. A union must have a majority to carry on a strike."

"After all, a secret ballot is required by our constitution," added Robert Smele, of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

A similar stand was taken by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, which also submitted a brief.

"At the present time the Labor Relations Board insists on conducting the strike vote," Percy Rayment, council secretary, read from a brief. "It insists on preparing the ballots (often badly worded), having employer representatives present when the vote is taken, and otherwise interfering in what is essentially a union function. This action by the board destroys the secrecy of the ballot."

The board moves to Nanaimo following the two-day session here, for hearings Friday and Saturday.

ROYAL VISIT PARTY

Subcommittee From Ottawa Due Here

Under-Secretary of State Charles Stein and other members of a subcommittee of the federal interdepartmental committee on the October visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip here were en route to Victoria by air this afternoon from Calgary.

The subcommittee left Ottawa Sunday night to discuss reception arrangements with committees in Toronto, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver and Edmonton, as well as Victoria.

The subcommittee is to meet here with a committee which is headed by Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith. Mr. Straith is out of the city until Friday, and Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kemney will represent him at the meeting here, to be held at Government House. Deputy Provincial Secretary R. A. Pennington, secretary of the special committee here, will attend the session.

Mr. Stein and his party will return to Ottawa with stopovers at Vancouver on Thursday and Edmonton on Friday.

The royal couple are slated to arrive here Oct. 14 on the destroyer Crusader to spend three days here. They will leave Oct. 19, returning to Vancouver via Nanaimo.

$2,000 Fire Destroys Car, Garage Here

Children may have started a $2,000 fire which destroyed a 1949-model car and garage on Meares Street Tuesday evening.

An investigation on the setting of a rubbish fire which spread to the garage and car owned by Mrs. A. W. Jones, 1160 Rockland Avenue, is under way.

Mrs. Jones' gardener, Leo Greig, told investigators rubbish had been accumulating three months since burning restrictions were announced.

Possibility of the fire starting by spontaneous combustion was ruled out because the rubbish pile and garage at the rear of the Rockland Avenue home of Mrs. Jones, fronting on Meares Street, is in a tree-shaded area.

It was suggested youngsters playing in the district may have set the blaze which quickly consumed the garage and car.

Damage was covered by insurance.

Fire Toll Not Confined To Forests

While flames continued to sweep through forests at Sooke, fire also caused heavy damage closer to home. Mrs. A. W. Jones, 1160 Rockland Avenue, shows

Deputy Fire Chief Frank Briers where flames started in rubbish and flashed to nearby garage destroying car. Inset shows burned car.

NO THOUGHTS FOR SPEED WHEN RUSHING CHILDREN TO MOTHER

"I plead guilty but I was so anxious to get the children to the hospital before my wife underwent a serious operation that I wasn't giving much thought to my speed."

That was the explanation of Richard W. Mathews, 3470 Cedar Hill Road, to Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today as to why he had exceeded the 30 m.p.h. speed limit recently. The magistrate remanded the case to Thursday for sentence.

Keep Blouse In, Mabel
With New Rubber Band!

By PENNY SAVER

Dangling blousitis is the most dreaded among the itis'. In fact, it's so terrible I've seen serene young femmes suffer an attack of same and literally burst at the seams!

I've heard of young men who work their way through college but how about a blouse that works its way to, and over the top of a skirt waistband? Incredible, but true!

Time and again, I've seen ladies step out in the morning wearing crisp blouses and spotless skirts. Comes evening, you're going home on that 5.30 bus, and the same girls step aboard with an appearance of having sacked coal the entire day. There are smudges and finger marks clear up to the collar and even a few up there just for good measure. Their blouses are flapping in the wind so much of the day I wouldn't be at all surprised if they have a couple of adventures.

ments printed on the shirt tails! I found a pair of gadgets this morning that's going to put an end to such shenanigans. Rubber bands, they are, and 79 cents to buy.

Appropriately labeled garment grippers, the rubber bands, about an inch or so wide, are to be pinned in the lower seam of the waistband, allowing one or two inches for fullness of the garment.

The strips of rubber won't allow a blouse to ride up and will take their place in skirts, slacks and ski pants.

Not a speck of sewing is needed, consequently, they're in and out of a garment in a jiffy.

Hope you're keeping your big baby blue eyes wide open this wonderful sale season.

There are bargains to be had every time the wise shopper makes a left turn in an aisleway. This morning, for instance, laundry baskets, complete with lid, had taken another dollar off their price tags and were selling at $2.49.

No small-size baskets, I might add, for they are large enough to accommodate four weeks' washing and a small-size housewife!

By gosh, if the new plastic shelf trim were of cotton I'd trim the hems of me slip with it, but because it's plastic I'll trim the pantry shelves instead. In fresh red and blue gingham prints, the shelf trim, all frilly and fluffy, is 25 pennies a yard.

For pressing ties: Make cardboard inset for small end and large. Keeps seams from showing.

MARY HAWORTH

Wife Troubled By Moods Of Despondency
When She Doesn't Love Husband

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am one of three sisters, the middle one, and I was the last to marry. I have been married five years, and have two fine little sons and a very good husband. Usually I am a happy, easy going person, well liked by those who know me. I have some very good friends. I am rather quiet, not very talkative at first acquaintance.

My problem is hard to explain. I know women are naturally moody at times, but I must be an extreme case. When I feel at the end of my rope I've tried talking to Jim about it, but he just says, "You're overreacting." We are told that the physician often can break the tension by giving the patient correct information about the physiology of the menstrual cycle, particularly if she's never had sound information on this score before. However, we are reminded that the woman confronting the doctor may have been a mama's pet, a dependent type, who unconsciously longs for respite from her marital obligations, occasionally, and finds this "out" in a form of complaint that her husband cannot gainsay, and that tends to evoke his baffled solicitude. In such case, the woman needs to understand the neurotic character of her symptoms, because to know the truth about that sort of thing is to become free of it, ordinarily.—M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Times.

PROBLEM KNOWN TO PHYSICIANS
DEAR E.P.: Depression, irritability and headache are frequent complaints associated with this periodic distress, and many women suffer insomnia, sudden crying jags, restlessness and ill-defined but nevertheless real "jittery" feelings, the article notes. Concerning the cause, it is surmised that the basis is largely emotional, rather than physical. It is thought that the woman's early impressions of human biology, physiology, sexuality, etc., were tinged by misinformation, ignorance and prudery, which leave a residue of fear, and dread of injury, in her unconscious feelings about the reproductive phenomenon. Hence the involuntary mood of rejecting her spouse.

Colorful Children's Toys
Take Prizes At C.N.E.

TORONTO (CP)—Many of the most pleasing prize-winning articles in the Canadian National Exhibition's needlework and handicraft competitions this year are aimed at children.

Toys, nursery furnishings and articles of clothing for the young are prize-winners. One circus quilt has elephants, camel, giraffe, bareback riding girl and a monkey—driven lion's cage drawn by a red horse, all worked into the design.

Another child's quilt is worked in appliqued and embroidered chinchilla. It is done in squares with a story in each—a penguin fishing through the ice, two pink bears eating honey, a chicken in a flowered bonnet and others.

TODAY'S RECIPE

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH BAKED BEANS

Five large tomatoes, 6 slices bacon, diced, 1½ cups chopped green pepper, one 15-ounce can oven-baked beans in tomato sauce or with pork and tomato sauce, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Heat oven to 325 degrees F. Cut a slice from stem end of tomato and scoop out pulp. Drain pulp. Fry bacon until crisp. Remove from skillet and brown green pepper in bacon fat. Combine bacon, green pepper, beans, drained pulp, and seasonings; fill tomatoes. Bake in a moderately slow oven (225 degrees F.) 25 minutes or until tomatoes are tender. Makes 5 servings.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A well-turned leg is a lovely part of the feminine figure. There are many contour faults to which legs are subject. Some of these are due to bony structure while others come from an accumulation of fatty deposits and over or under-developed muscles. Sometimes the difficulty comes from flabbiness and lax muscles.

The calf of the leg is one of the important areas in deciding the shape of the leg. For under-developed calves do exercises which require you to rise high on your toes and then lower your heels. For slimming the calf do one of the following:

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor at your sides, legs straight. Bend the left leg up close to the abdomen and grasp the left ankle with your hands. Straighten the leg toward the ceiling and pull the fingers along the leg as you do so, feeling the pressure on the calf. Lower leg to floor. Do the same thing with the right leg and continue alternating left and right.

Another one for calf tenderizing: lie on the floor with your legs straight. Keep the left knee stiff as you raise the left leg upward, pulling the toes back toward the head. Lower to the floor. Do the same thing with the right leg.

The following exercise is splendid for firming and streamlining the thighs: Stand erect with your right side toward the wall and the right hand on the wall. Bend the right knee about a third of the way down and straighten the left leg out to the left side, left knee straight. Keep the left knee stiff as you make circles on the floor with your left toe.

This motion is made with the left leg, not the left toe. Make the circles as large as you can. After a while turn the left side toward the wall and circle with the right leg.

If you would like to have my leaflet which has corrective exercise for the most usual defects in leg contour send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 13, "Why Not Take Steps Toward Lovely Legs?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Women Drinkers A Problem

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—Before the Second World War drunkenness among women was almost unknown in South Africa. Today the problem is causing concern among welfare societies.

While the number of women convicted of drunkenness has more than doubled in recent years, the total is considered negligible among the whole population. The chief worry is over the proper treatment of women inebriates.

There is no institution set aside for treatment of women alcoholics and the Rand Aid Association has taken the lead in raising funds for such an institution. The association expects the problem to grow worse.

A changed social attitude towards drinking is blamed by welfare officers. Little more than 10 years ago it was unusual to see a woman drinking in public. Dances for instance were usually of the lemonade and buns variety.

The war however speeded up the change and one welfare officer said "the shame of being drunk no longer exists among an ever-increasing number of young women."

"Today," said this expert, "there appears nothing extraordinary about a party where women of all ages take drink; for drink with the men, even past the stage where they are slurring their words and bumping into doorways."

Another welfare worker here said "young girls nowadays think it's old-fashioned to refuse a cocktail. A hangover is not considered a disgrace. The greatest boast of many young women is that they can 'hold their liquor like a man'."

American Naval Officers Honored

Chatting at the afternoon reception given by U.S. Consul Frederick W. Hinke and Mrs. Hinke at Royal Victoria Golf Club Tuesday in honor of officers of three American destroyers in port are from left: Lt. (J.G.) F. W. Brower, U.S.S. Nickel; Miss Margaret Hinke; Lt. Floyd Spessard and Miss Louise Miles.

A Summer Floral Setting At Rowley-Whitaker Wedding

Standards of multi-colored gladioli, sweet peas and other summer flowers decorated Emmanuel Baptist Church Saturday evening when Rev. James Smith united Kathleen Maud Whitaker and Edward Frank Rowley in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Whitaker, Cowichan Station, and the groom is the son of Mrs. E. Taylor, Derby Road.

Mr. Whitaker gave his daughter in marriage.

During the signing of the register Harold Parfitt sang "Till We Meet Again," accompanied by Mrs. G. H. E. Green.

Heavy egg-shell satin with lace yoke fashioned the exquisite wedding gown. The veil was finger-tip length chantilly lace caught in a headdress of pearls and rhinestones. Her crescent-shaped bouquet was of roses and her only jewelry was three strands of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. David Parfitt, sister of the groom, as an attendant to the bride, chose a gown of rose tulle accented with gold thread sheering, and a bouquet of gladioli. Mrs. B. Thorpe, sister of the bride, also an attendant, was gowned in pale mauve sheer with lace trim and a picture hat. She carried a bouquet of lilac-toned gladioli and heather.

Charles E. Rowley, Vancouver, was best man for his brother, and ushers were Bruce Bennett and David Parfitt.

At the wedding reception, a three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table which was decorated with pale pink carnations and white candles. C. W. O'Neill, Vancouver, proposed the toast.

For her honeymoon in Vancouver, Los Angeles and Mexico, the bride donned a pale pink gabardine suit complimented with navy accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses and cornflowers.

The newlyweds will live in Duncan.

Hear Guest Speaker From Ontario City

Sincere churchmanship was the theme of a talk by Rev. Allison Rogers, O.B.E., B.A., B.D., Welland Church, St. Catharines, Ont., when he spoke before members of the Women's Missionary Society of Metropolitan United Church earlier this week.

During the meeting, Mrs. E. R. Bewell presided and Mrs. E. Crumley gave devotions. Piano solos were played by Miss Marilyn Baker and vocal soloist was Mrs. A. Paver, accompanied by Mrs. H. Harman.

Tea was served to guests and members.

Thesis Completed After Two Years Study At The Sorbonne And Oxford

Home after two years in Europe preparing a thesis on modern French literature is Miss Gwladys V. Downes.

She has proven herself to be a specialist in French, a brilliant student and an excellent teacher.

Miss Downes was educated at Willows and Monterey schools, Oak Bay High School and Victoria College before studying at University of British Columbia, Toronto and the Sorbonne.

She received her B.A., M.A., from U.B.C.; diploma of the Ecole de Preparation, Paris; teacher training diploma, U.B.C., and has almost completed her doctorate at the Sorbonne, Paris.

Scholarships include I.O.D.E. bursaries, French government scholarship upon graduation from U.B.C., Flaville scholarship to Toronto University, Humanities Research Council grant and Canadian University Women's scholarship, both for Paris.

Miss Downes prepared her thesis at Oxford in England and the Sorbonne in France. The thesis topic was "Paul Valery en face du Symbolisme et du Surrealisme."

During her stay in Paris she lived with a typical French family who had suffered all the hardships of war, but were making the best of things despite the many difficulties facing them.

"It was a lovely home," remarked Miss Downes, "and I enjoyed staying with them."

She said: "Many have asked me if Paris is as lovely as the travel books would have us believe. Generally speaking, it is equally as beautiful and in some places no pictures or words could do it justice."

Miss Downes went on to say, "I know so many say that we do not appreciate the life we have in Canada, and I was amazed to find how much I had taken for granted. Why, in France we were even limited to the quantity of hot water we used as it was so expensive for fuel to heat it."

Before going to Europe Miss Downes taught at Duncan High School, University of British Columbia, University of Toronto and was with the National Research Council in Ottawa.

She has now been appointed to the staff at Victoria College and will teach French.

Besides her success in this line, Miss Downes has an interest in creative writing and hopes to be able to do some work in this line now that her studies are over for awhile.

Miss Gwladys V. Downes to join Victoria College staff.

Pipeliners Grow Like Mushrooms

By HARRY YOUNG, Times Business Editor

Since the federal board of transport commissioners decided last spring to postpone until September its hearing on natural gas and oil pipelines from Alberta to other parts of Canada and the United States, the competition to get into the distributing end of the western oil business has grown considerably.

Instead of having to deal with four applications, the board will now have eight—four for gas lines and four for oil lines. In addition, there are at least two other companies who will eventually make application for a hearing.

Most of the companies seeking a franchise are powerfully backed by U.S. capital, and all of them have considerable support from the producing and exploration companies working the Alberta oilfields.

A spur has been provided by the successful operations of Alberta's initial pipeline, the Interprovincial, which runs from near Edmonton to Superior on the Great Lakes.

This pipeline has almost doubled the market in Canada for western oil but it only hits the fringe of the business. The Pacific Coast (Canadian and U.S.) is ripe for both oil and gas from Alberta. There is also a market in the east for natural gas.

Until recently it has been assumed that Alberta oil, owing to costs of transmission, would not be competitive with the imported product anywhere east of Montreal, but there are indications that with efficient pipelining this difficulty might be overcome.

In any case the leading companies are convinced they can market Alberta oil in the Ontario region, for in a news release this week, the Sun Oil Company of Philadelphia states that in a two-year program it will spend $10,000,000 on a new catalytic cracker refining unit at Sarnia, Ont., where already the Imperial Oil is treating its crude from Alberta.

Assuming that the Interprovincial line to Superior and the Great Lakes are temporarily at least able to cope with the movement of Alberta oil to the Sarnia refineries, the more immediate pipeline needs for the western oilfields are:

- (1) Gas and oil to the Pacific Coast (Canada).
 - (2) Gas and oil to the north-western states.
 - (3) Gas line to Montreal with intermediate spurs.
- In addition to this there may be a need for minor pipelines serving specified areas, such as the one already authorized from southern Alberta into Montana.

The action of the transport commissioners when they meet on Sept. 24-25 will depend largely upon whether the Alberta government has by that time decided whether it has sufficient reserves in the ground to warrant the export of natural gas.

The Alberta decision may be known after the sessions of the petroleum and natural gas conservation board on Sept. 10. They will consider five natural gas export applications.

The leading companies deploying for franchises to the west are:

West Coast Transmission Co., who want to bring gas and oil to the Pacific coast by an all-Canadian northerly route.

Albert Natural Gas Co., which has alternative all-Canadian and part U.S. plans for a gas line to the Pacific and an oil line by way of northwest U.S. cities with Vancouver the terminal.

Trans-Mountain plans to bring oil from Edmonton to Vancouver.

Independent Pipeline Ltd. seeks an oil line from the Edmonton area to end at Port Moody, near Vancouver.

Prairie Transmission Lines with a gas line application is the only one which proposes definitely to run the natural gas to Victoria and Vancouver Island with a pipe line under the gulf.

Champion Pipeline Corporation seeks an all-Canadian natural gas line via the Crow's Nest Pass to Vancouver, with offshoots into the States and it may also be interested later in a pipeline to Toronto and the east.

Two companies seek franchises to the east.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines proposes a 2,200 mile trunk line to Montreal, via Toronto and Sudbury. Its complicated network would cost $250,000,000, and its application is not yet before the board.

Eastern Pipe Lines has asked the board for the franchise to lay a gas pipe to Winnipeg serving prairie cities en route.

In addition to these, there is also in the field Border Pipeline Corporation, whose application for incorporation was blocked by western members at the last session of Parliament because it proposed to lay its oil route to Vancouver through United States territory.

The complications of the situation are immense, but it is obvious that the whole future of the marketing of Alberta oil depends on a wise choice of pipeline operations.

TIMES MAN GOES EAST WITH ALCAN

At the invitation of the Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd., Harry Young, Times business editor, is leaving Victoria tomorrow to undertake a tour of Alcan's plants in Quebec and Ontario. He will visit the Alcan power developments in Quebec, including the power developments at Ile Maligne and Peribonka, the smelting plant at Arvida and the Port Alfred and Shipshaw townships. At Kingston, Ont., he will visit the Alcan fabrication plant.

In view of the big new Alcan development in British Columbia, Young's first-hand impressions of Alcan's eastern activities will be carried in The Times.

Plans For B.C. Tungsten Mine

SALMO, B.C. (BUP)—Plans were under way today to make the Emerald Tungsten Mine, near here, one of North America's largest tungsten producers. Charles Clark, secretary of the Canadian Exploration Co., said drilling on the property had been "most encouraging," and plans to more than double the capacity of a 250-ton mill were being completed for the Canadian Government.

Clark said the company had negotiated an agreement to sell the estimated tungsten production for six years, 1953-58.

Canadian Exploration sold the mine back to the government last February, after purchasing it at the end of the war.
